With G. E. Mortimore

IT'S going to be hard for employees of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to explain why they have a large jagged hole in the ceiling.

"Yes, madam," they will wearily state, "that's where George I. Warren went through. Somebody shot straight up in the air. We haven't seen him since."

"We're going to have the hole in the ceiling framed as a memorial."

Well, George Warren hasn't literally shot through the ceiling yet, but observers predict that it will take just one more spark like the affair of the Canadian Scottish band yesterday to launch him into the stratosphere like a king-sized rocket.

The band of the Scottish was in Seattle for the opening of the Seafair, Seattle's big fiesta. A television commentator on KING-TV said something like this:

"And now, here comes the band of The Canadian Scottish Regiment FROM VANCOUVER."

George Warren was only one of thousands of loyal Victorians who flipped their lids like overheated teapots when they heard this insult to their regiment and their town. Comments from officers and men of the Scottish were unprintable.

Victoria's publicity chief telephoned the manager of KING-TV and squeezed from him a promise to correct the blunder on the air.

(However, Mr. Warren simmered once again when re-telecast time came and went—minus any correction.)

News of the television fumble caught George Warren already in an ugly mood. He was still boiling from a mistake made by Qantas Empire Airways in a travel booklet distributed in Australia and Britain.

"See the wonderful Indian totem poles," the Qantas booklet urged travelers, "just a few miles from VANCOUVER, CANADA'S THIRD LARGEST CITY AND THE CAPITAL OF BRITISH COLUMBIA."

Mr. Warren has written to Qantas, urging the company to correct this latest in a long series of geographical bloopers.

Qantas is the second large airline to pin-point Vancouver as the B.C. capital. Recently TCA did the same in a widely distributed travel folder which was withdrawn and corrected after George Warren lodged a protest.

Nor does that exhaust the list of fluffy-headed writers who got Victoria mixed up with that collection of shums, mud flats and boiler factories across the Strait.

Here are two other sore spots in the rash of errors that has broken out lately:

Southern Pacific Railroad called Vancouver the capital of B.C. in a booklet. George Warren objected. The man who made the mistake was fired.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer said Florence Chadwick was going to swim from Vancouver to Port Angeles.

Our champion George I. Warren fights back gallantly with his little sword of truth against these dragons of error. In moments of defeatism, however, it occurs to me that he fights for a lost cause.

The forces arrayed against Victoria are too big. Railway companies, airlines and newspapers are busy ignoring the city as hard as they can. Already they have us half-persuaded that Vancouver is the capital. With a little more work, they may convince us that Victoria does not exist.

Garden Notes

Mildew Spores Borne on Wind

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS
Rose Troubles—(R.C.B., Victoria). The Buisol you are using is about as good as anything to control mildew on roses, but your plants are being continually reinfected from roses and other plants in the neighborhood, as the spores of the disease are wind-borne. You can make your bushes a little more resistant to mildew by giving each plant three cups of wood ashes scratched into the soil, plus one tablespoonful of sulphate of iron in a gallon of water. Keep the roots well watered and mulched.

I think an infestation of thrips is the most likely reason for your Mme. J. Perrier roses withering while in bloom. If Black Leaf 40 and soap fail to control them, try 50 per cent wettable DDT.

Rhododendron Cuttings—(P.F.S., Victoria). August is the best month to take rhododendron and azalea cuttings, but I should warn you that even with professional growers the percentage of "strikes" is rather low.

The modern method of increasing rhododendrons is through air-layering. Select a suitable branch and cut a nick in it at the point where you want roots to form. Dust the cut with hormone rooting powder, covers the whole branch at this point with a ball of damp sphagnum moss and wrap the whole thing up in a polythene plastic film, the kind you buy your packaged meat in. Seal the air-layer up tightly.

Swedish Princess Faces Traffic Charge

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Princess Sibylla of Sweden, mother of Crown Prince Carl Gustaf, has been reported to the police for careless driving. The report charged the 46-year-old princess violated traffic rules by speeding through a railway crossing to evade the closing gates.

Russian Timing Off on New Note

PARIS (NANA)—French reaction to the new Soviet bid for talks on European security encourages a belief that the Russians have made a serious diplomatic blunder.

Here in Paris, as in Washington, the proposal is regarded as a move to torpedo chances of German rearmament within the Western European Community.

The Russians know French ratification of EDC is a touch-and-go proposition that many Frenchmen are anxious to seize on any pretext for rejecting German rearmament. As expected, the Kremlin wasted no time after the Geneva conference to reopen the question of a new general European settlement in an attempt to forestall a decision on EDC.

The scheme apparently has failed. There will be no delay in French National Assembly debate on EDC. Premier Pierre Mendes-France has promised the question will be settled before the end of August.

The EDC treaty presented to the assembly will be essentially the same one already ratified by four of the six member nations.

WONT DODGE

In the showdown, Mendes-France himself is expected to exert the maximum personal leadership to push the treaty through, without dodging the responsibility by trying to place all the incident within parliament. And the success or failure of his regime will be directly tied to the outcome.

Official circles here feel the Russians have damaged their case against EDC by the timing of their latest note. Even those who hitherto oppose the treaty cannot ignore the transparency of the Kremlin's effort. The Russian move seems to be solidifying Western sentiment, at least for the moment.

In short, the reaction of France seems to prove that being against German rearmament is not the same thing as being pro-Russian and that in trying to make this the case the Russians are working hard to defeat their own purposes.

Dupe Used To Carry Out Crimes

Hypnotist's Conviction Legal Precedent

COPENHAGEN (NANA)—

planning the robbery and in signing Hardrup to commit this and the murders" was 39-year-old Jorgen Schouw Nielsen who was neither at the scene of the crime when it was committed.

The jury heard Hardrup describe how, while in a hypnotic trance he had three times weekly for three months been instructed and rehearsed in minute detail how the robbery should be carried out. He declared that he had been told that if the first cashier refused to hand over any money he should shoot him and try another bank official.

The Danish high court confronted with medical testimony that hypnotists could kill the jury, sentenced the defendant and was pronounced guilty of the actual gunshots in a case.

McCarthy Target Of Six Charges Hurlled in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Fulbright (D., Ark.) hurled six charges—including an allegation of a $10,000 "shakedown" of a housing corporation—at Senator McCarthy Saturday as the senate plowed through some seven hours of argument without a decision on a move to censure the Wisconsin Republican.

Senator Fulbright moved to meet vehement objections from a number of senators that the resolution of condemnation of Senator McCarthy's conduct, offered by Senator Flanders (R., Wis.), lacked a bill of particulars.

It was a day in which foes of Senator McCarthy lambasted him, and other senators, including Senator Daniel (D., Tex.), objected that the backers of the Senator Flanders move were trying to do to Senator McCarthy what they accused him of doing to others—condemning people without fair procedure.

Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), called the Flanders resolution an "utterly improper approach and unconscionable." In early evening the Senate recessed until noon Monday.

Saturday's debate never reached the peaks of emotion and tension scaled Friday night. Senator McCarthy himself was absent much of the time. And crowds had dwindled to the point where there were big clumps of empty seats in the galleries.

Senator Fulbright offered amendments to the Flanders resolution covering each of his six charges. He said he would demand a vote on each.

The other five were that Senator McCarthy:

1. Denounced a senate subcommittee that investigated his affairs and "contemptuously refused to comply with its request" that he testify.

2. Openly invited and urged

Stadium Cheers Award-Giving

By Colonist Staff Reporter
EMPIRE STADIUM, Vancouver. An Empire Stadium crowd of 2,000 stood and cheered Canada's outstanding athlete, world champion weightlifter Doug Hepburn when he was presented with the Lord Alexander trophy yesterday by Earl Alexander of Tunis.

The grip that helped lift 1,030 pounds in three tries in Stockholm firmly shook Lord Alexander's hand at the brief ceremony in the stadium infield.

Standing bare-headed and sking almost wuloway beside the burly weightlifter, Lord Alexander made the presentation of a replica of the trophy, the British weighs 500 pounds and might have been carried away by Hepburn if Lord Alexander could have handed it to him.

B.E.G. Misinformation Spread in Mix-Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Empire Games communications setup looked a monkey wrench into coverage of the opening-day swimming program. It sent reporters into a flap and caught the organization committee's press relations office in a general foul-up.

Newspaper men, relying mainly on the B.E. Games teletype setup for results of events at the various venues, Saturday sent bulletins to newspaper offices and radio stations awarding the championship of two final events as relayed on the games circuit. The catch was they weren't finals and the errors weren't caught for more than half an hour.

The mix-up occurred in the men's and women's 110-yard freestyle events, both marked "final" on the games circuit.

At that time the games printer circuit sent a note to all taking the service that "finalists where bouts were run... are only picked to be swim later."

By that time the "false" news had been spread practically across the Empire and to the United States. And the games press headquarters weren't aware of the errors for another 14 hours. They quickly recalled their mimeographed forms, containing the wrong information.

The AFL union and the CIO Woodworkers have been on strike for six weeks to support demands for a 12½-cent hourly wage increase. Management generally has offered only to renew the old contract, contending the industry cannot afford additional costs at this time.

Carpenters Finance AFL Lumber Strike

PORTLAND (AP)—Striking Pacific Northwest AFL lumber and sawmill workers will be "backed to the hilt" by the AFL United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Brotherhood's $9,000,000 strike fund, a union official said Saturday.

Frank Chapman, general treasurer of the brotherhood, told reporters, "There is no limit to what we are going to do to finance support of the AFL workers' strike in the Northwest fir industry."

Teachers Will Meet Minister

The B.C. Teachers' Federation will meet Education Minister Ray Williston August 9 to present its reaction to a B.C. School Trustees' Association claim that the present method of establishing teacher salaries in B.C. is "illogical and harmful to the education system."

The federation will present a brief to the minister and a meeting of the federation, the trustees' association and Mr. Williston will be called at a later date for further discussion.

The trustees' association has asked for a province-wide salary scale, coupled with machinery for biennial revision.

U.S. Fleet on Alert For New Incidents

MANILA (UP)—Vice-admiral W. K. Phillips, commander of the U.S. 1st Fleet which sent fighters into the Red Sea last week to knock down two Red Chinese planes, warned Saturday his powerful armada would go into action again if the Reds provoke further incidents.

In a press conference aboard his flagship, the carrier Hornet, Phillips described the operations of the units of his fleet following the shooting down July 23 of a British passenger airliner by communist warplanes on Hainan Island.

Fighters from another of the fleet's carriers, the Philippine Sea, shot down two Red fighters Monday when they attacked American planes searching the area for possible survivors.

"In the case of other incidents of this kind we will act under suitable direction," the admiral said that after the two Red fighters were shot down a communist gunboat escorted two Polish freighters in the China Sea, fired on the American planes.

Most Missing Passports Recovered

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some of the passports stolen from British Empire Games athletes have been recovered by police.

They were found Saturday in the wreckage of a smashed safe which Friday night was trucked from the commandant's office at Empire Village.

The robbery occurred while the athletes and officials were 10 miles away at Empire Stadium for the opening of the games.

Pakistan team members were the "heaviest losers. They lost $1,505 in cash, deposited in the commandant's office for safe-keeping.

Southern Rhodesian team members lost £200 in travellers' cheques, negotiable only in the sterling area, and South Africans reported loss of £30 sterling and travellers' cheques.

The safe was found in three blocks from the village. It had been battered with an axe and the door knocked from its hinges.

'Flag-Battle' In Delta Region

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—A "battle of flags" has broken out in the Red River delta where a shooting war crackled until Tuesday's cease-fire. It is part of a growing struggle for the loyalty of 13,000,000 North Viet Namese who, under the Geneva agreement, can choose Communist-led Vietnam rule or evacuation to the south.

Bright Vietnam flags, a yellow star in a red field, are flying now over dozens of small villages along the highway from Hanoi to the Port of Haiphong. Vietnam women come out of these villages to stop civilian buses and try to talk Viet Namese out of evacuating the area.

RESETTLEMENT PLAN
A French evacuation official said groups of women are massing in front of Haiphong-bound buses, stopping the vehicles and shouting that the Viet Namese should not leave the delta area.

The women tell bus passengers that no one will be harmed or lose property under the coming Vietnam occupation, the official said.

"When that does not work, and so far we have had no reports of any bus passengers getting off, the women shout warnings that those who leave will never be allowed to return," he added.

select your physician with care and confidence

The STUDY OF MEDICINE is a selective process in itself. Seven years of intensive study in college, plus one year of practice in a hospital, are the minimum requirements. It is wise to trust your precious health only to a conscientious physician of recognized standing. Avoid the quack, the charlatan, the "cure-all" type of doctor. Almost invariably they do more harm than good. Select your physician as you should your pharmacist—with care and confidence.

When your physician writes a prescription, bring it to us to be filled. We are specialists at this work.

The Duke's Visit

A HAPPY if brief renewal of acquaintance with the Duke of Edinburgh is in store for Victorians when the plane carrying His Royal Highness touches down late this afternoon at Patricia Bay. This dynamic young consort of the young Queen Elizabeth is certain to receive here, as he does every place he visits, an eager and enthusiastic welcome, not alone for his Royal status but for the fascinating personality that is himself. Not for many years has a member of the reigning Royal house captured the imagination as has done the present Duke of Edinburgh.

Much of this stems from his acute and forthright approach to all that comes within his enquiring purview. He is of the modern age, attuned in mind to the industrial and scientific developments of the day—some of which he is seeing at first hand on his current tour of Canada—and in trait of character at ease in all kinds of company and occasions. As the partner in Royalty of a Queen blessed with shining qualities of her own the Duke of Edinburgh's visit here this week end recalls vividly his well-remembered stay in 1951 with the then Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the Throne.

That sojourn secured for the Queen and the Duke a specially intimate place in the affections of the Greater Victoria community. His Royal Highness comes alone on this occasion, another visit from the Queen being unfeasible at this time, but the reception awaiting him will encompass sincere regard for them both. The Duke's main interest on this brief visit will be tomorrow at the Esquimalt naval base, where the RCN is waiting to display its mettle before one who is an admiral of the fleet and a real sailor himself. The meeting there could not be more apt. All Victoria is honored by this visit of the Duke of Edinburgh and is ready to honor him in return by the whole-hearted nature of its welcome.

The Traffic Muddle

THE city council seems to have wrestled itself to a no-fail, no-score draw on the traffic issue, coming out of its review precisely where it went in. Nothing has been settled and now the whole mess is to be thrown into the lap of the city manager. He is also to be expected to settle the clash of opinions between one section of the city police and the traffic branch; between the police commission and the aldermanic works committee; between the merchants who want parking on one-way streets and those who cannot see one-way traffic at all.

The council is supposed to be in the saddle, and that is where policy decisions should be made. Unfortunately the aldermanic board as at present constituted appears incapable of effective determination in any one try.

The old adage regarding failure and determination wherein one is urged to try and try again hardly applies to the factual case in this instance. More muddling will not help. Fort Street never will be wide enough to contain one-way traffic with also curbside parking. One-way traffic streams cutting at right angles anywhere into the main flow of vehicles in the centre of the city will produce tangles, and cannot produce anything else.

If the city council will only leave the city manager alone with the muddle, even now he may be able to get some of the tangled threads unraveled. But no amount of persuasion, verbal or otherwise, is going to alter the fundamental issue. That is that Victoria must take genuine steps either to control its vehicular traffic or else leave it entirely alone. Driving rules which are subject to change once a week without notice are no tribute to forethought at the City Hall.

A Lifetime of Enjoyment

FOR scores of young people who took their first steps towards learning to swim under the guidance of the Colonist classes last year and this there is unfolding what can become a lifetime of enjoyment in the water and on it in every form of recreation and sport. As the first tentative strokes by oneself give inner confidence there comes the realization that anyone who is of normal physical attainment can enjoy himself in the water. From there to the point where a strong swimmer has developed is only the application of practice. Once it is learned, however, swimming is a lifetime asset.

In a season such as this everyone who is able to do so should learn to swim. It is the pre-requisite to boating in any form, and becomes the door leading to so many useful and worthwhile pursuits and pleasures that to fail to make the initial effort in youth is always a loss to the individual. Of course there are some who for individual reasons cannot and should not over-exert themselves in an art that demands physical fitness as its first requirement. Apart from that, however, there are very few people who need deprive themselves of so much fun in simple and inexpensive ways throughout life.

Victoria has been a sailing, rowing and swimming centre for well over half a century, and it is good to see that the innate love of the water still has a very real place in the community. To parents who permitted their children to take the plunge last year of this, and also to the instructors who have given so unselfishly of themselves to make an unqualified success of the venture, are due the cordial thanks of this paper.

Island Editors Say

A Trifle Noisy

That Canada's navy should be provided with a highly skilled, hard-hitting fleet air arm has never been questioned in North Saanich. The announcement which preceded the arrival of naval planes at Patricia Bay Airport was greeted by nothing but pleasure in the airport area.

There is only one question paramount in the minds of all who reside in the Sidney area: why did the navy choose Harvards? Of all the aircraft, training, military or civilian, one, two or four engines, which regularly use the airport none makes a greater noise than the Harvard.

The navy and its Harvards resemble a dinner guest with a voracious appetite. We welcome your arrival; we admire your acrobatics, but must you burp so loudly?

Saving Farm Lands

It is gratifying to notice that the latest housing development in the district has chosen the site at the top of the Comox Hill. Not only is the view there, one of the finest in the province, but the soil is not of especially high order and no valuable farm land is being taken away from its original purpose.

It is necessary to provide home sites, and factory sites, and airports, and all the other concomitants of modern living. But in doing this some thought should be given to the necessity of keeping our most fertile land for agriculture.

Vancouver North Shore offers an excellent example of the use of poor farm land superbly suited for homesites. The Fraser Valley, on the contrary, should be guarded carefully. In the Comox district, a similar situation exists in miniature.

Profitable Use

The Socialist maxim that goods should be produced "for use and not for profit" is still fashionable. If one is to judge by utterances made from time to time by socialist leaders, what these leftists fail to grasp, says the Letter Review, is that without coralling labor and materials, goods cannot be produced at all unless someone wants to use them.

Goods produced for profit must, therefore, first be produced for use. The buyer (who foots the bill) determines what is useful and what is not.

Under the socialist planned economy, it is the bureaucrats and the politicians who decide what people ought to want and what should be produced. Freedom of choice under such a system would quickly vanish and people who displayed reluctance to pay in taxes for the goods and services produced by the State would be under constant propaganda pressure to persuade them to pay for things they really didn't want at all.

—CAMPELL RIVER COURIER

People Are Honest

Monthly reports submitted by the local detachment of the RCMP to the city council frequently provide a chuckle with the statement: "Articles lost . . . none; Articles found . . . two." The police have not discovered some new method of creating something out of nothing; these reports are simply additional statistics for the voluminous data which indicate that people, generally, are honest.

It is the exception to the rule, the one individual in the many, the small group in the community which makes it necessary for us to maintain large, expensive police forces, to keep our doors locked and to observe the multitude of other precautions against theft.

What a pity it is that there must be the exception to prove this general rule of honesty.

27 Years Service

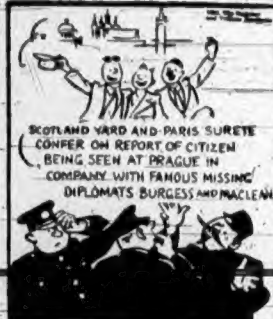

A tribute should be paid at this time to a man who has put 27 busy years of his life into the education of the young people of the district.

Mr. Dunn will be missed and, although we congratulate him sincerely on his new appointment, we realize that his resignation from principalship of the High School will mean that many pupils and their parents will lose contact with a real friend.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings

By TOM TAYLOR

I TRUST the inhabitants of my native town are properly grateful; as you would notice the other day a news note from the Kremlin says the Russians have no desire to "take" Glasgow. Luckily perhaps, lest the first man ashore at the Broomielaw lands unexpectedly on a missile.

This condescending assurance, however, was voiced at a vodka party in the Kremlin, which possibly lessens its verity. Some queer things seem to come out of both the Kremlin and vodka bottles.

I was slightly surprised about the vodka itself, as a matter of fact, for 'tis but a fortnight since Pravda was rebuking the Communist proletariat for undue fondness for wassail. My surprise was tempered, though, Pravda could put any chameleon to shame, and it has in its morgue the biggest store of gall in journalistic history. You would read its opus of last week, to wit:

"Every nation must decide for itself the nature of the social and political structure of its country and no one has the right to force upon it another system from the outside." Shades of Poland, Latvia, Hungary, Rumania, East Germany, et al! There must be huge tongue-lumps in the cheeks of Pravda editors.

But to other things, as Pepys might say, I would not have spoiled this summer morn by mention of the Kremlin if Glafco, an ancient volume spells it, hadn't come up.

An emissary hid himself into my office two days ago, a big book under his arm. 'Twas Samuel Lane, who as you know dispenses grace and little bits of Old England in Lampson Street. He was smiling, and that made me suspicious.

I know now he came in to upset my applecart. You see, this big book, and a rare piece of antiquity it is too, dated 1673. It is a collation of one Sir Peter Leicester, Baronet, telling of the peculiar folk of "Great Britain Ireland." Incidentally it also contains a transcript of Cheshire out of the Domesday-Book, but alas this is in Latin and I am a Winston Churchill.

But it was a slip of paper Samuel had stuck in a certain page which alerted me to mischief afoot. I therefore opened the volume with misgivings.

Just as I thought: a chapter on the origin of the Scots.

It floored me. Delving a while back into genealogical mysteries I finally concluded I was really an Egyptian-Scot, you know, which recalled me to the years I spent in the Middle East—a sort of belated penance for the sins of my ancestors. And now, so Sir Peter Leicester says, I'm a Scythian.

Here's how, in the true flavor of 1673:

"First, for the Etymology of the Name of Scots, it is (as of other Nations round about) full of obscurity. Buchanan is man other-wife of deep insight, an excellent Latin poet, but a bad Statesman! will have Scotland named from Scotia—a counterfeit Daughter of Pharaoh King of Egypt, wedded, Jarroloth, to one Galathias, Son of Cecrops, Founder of Athens; for which he is justly taxed by Camden in his Britannia, pag. 85. For no Man skillful in Antiquities can endure such palpable Falfities and Fables."

"For Learned Cimbden fuppofeth, and proveth, That the Scots Inhabited Ireland, and from thence came into Scotland; and that they were originally Scythians; for as from Gelae, Gerici, Goughi, fo Scythae, Scythici, Scotti, Scoti, take their derivation."

It is certain that the Scots came out of Spain into Ireland and from Ireland part of them came into Britain, and 16 added a third Nation in Britain to the Britons and Picts."

I read Sir Peter with growing dismay. For why? Well, the Scythians were a nomad race of Asia, and they ruled the Russian steppes and roamed from the Danube to the Volga.

I'm blood brother to a Pravda editor! What a revenge Sam Lane has formulated. And me taken in by his guileful smile every time we meet, thinking he had forgotten all about Bannockburn.

A drink vodka, to reduce my blood pressure. Vodka? No, no, not that. Give me lime juice.

On the Record

THE next matter to be repeated between the great powers will be the German question, and it is already apparent that the initiative is not in the hands of Secretary of State Dulles.

When Prime Minister Churchill was in Washington recently, Britain and America agreed that, if France failed to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty, West Germany would be granted sovereignty and allowed to rearm within the framework of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but that decision also involves France, a party to the Bonn Treaty, which still restricts German sovereignty, and the French parliament is not more likely to welcome a German national army than a German contribution to EDC.

France is an occupying power in Germany. Should the decision, to oppose the British-American decision, how could she be coerced? Should she refuse to permit German rearmament in her zone, what kind of German army, with what kind of morale, could be composed of Germans from the two other zones? There would then be not, as there now is, two Germanys but three.

There is also a brewing revolt in Great Britain against the policy decided in Washington, and though it is led by that stormy petrel of the left, Aneurin Bevan, it has the support of some leaders of the labor majority and even of some Conservatives. Bevan is urging another four-power conference, convinced that the Indo-China peace (unanimously cheered in Britain) opens the way for a general settlement. Bevan's proposal is that Germany be reunited by free elections under the four occupying powers, be neutralized, and a German peace treaty be postponed, along with rearmament, for another 10 years; all four powers remaining in occupation to prevent German rearmament for that period.

A Calm Reappraisal

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

It is wearisome to interpolate that although the Russians are obligated under existing agreements not to rearm Germany, they have long since set up a German armed force in the zone they occupy. Does Bevan expect them to dissolve it, or does he wish to pretend that it does not exist?

What the German state of mind must be one can, at this distance, only conjecture. This column has been pretty much alone in reporting that the German situation was far more fluid than the Adenauer victory a year ago indicated.

We cannot forget that in the last election before Hitler's big victory, the Social Democrats polled the biggest vote in German history. The Germans, when free to choose, are politically extremely volatile, and they are now in the position of being dammed if they do and dammed if they don't.

Chancellor Adenauer has tied his entire foreign policy to the western alliance, banking especially on the United States. But the U.S. has been defeated on EDC by France, a state unable to do anything affirmative on her own, but well able to prevent anyone else from acting. America may again be defeated tomorrow even on its alternate policy of a German national army within NATO, and not by the Soviet Union alone, but by our allies.

In that case the pro-American west German chancellor will be right out on a limb and countries are not long governed from that position.

The defection to the Russian zone of Dr. Otto John, chief of West Germany's internal security agency, is a terribly disturbing symptom. Apparently it was largely an act of despair. There is a great deal of despair in West Germany under the facade of prosperity, among all who have not chosen to concentrate wholly on their personal existences. Despairing people are always dangerous.

The idea of uniting Germany under free elections—even assuming that the Russians would grant them—and then postponing for 10 years the settlement of her status and restoration of her sovereignty does not appeal to this column as having any basis in reality. No people with any degree of political freedom can be held for such a period in a state of suspended animation between contradictory and alien forces.

We are against the entire idea of a four-power conference this fall to settle the German question which, in the long run, cannot be settled without the Germans themselves. We think that, before any conference, the U.S. should make, not an "agonizing" reappraisal of its previous policies and the existing situation, but a far calmer, more realistic, and more lucid appraisal than either the Acheson or Dulles administration has done to date.

Choose Your Ancestors

(From The Ottawa Journal)

WITH all the advances made by medical knowledge and skill, the centenarian continues to be a rare bird. Russia claims to have 320 of them in Southern Siberia alone, but Russia is not to be taken too seriously in its claims of superiority. A Turk is said to have been 157 when he died a few years ago, and Britain's oldest in decades was a citizen who died at 114. But in a general way the saving of human life has been at the beginning of it and not at the end. Fewer infants die, and as the expectation of life has been raised sharply in recent years, but still it is true that coming up towards reaching distance of the century mark a wise selection of ancestors (and a bit of luck) perhaps has as much to do with survival as the whole battery of medical marvels. There may be something to the theory of a Hungarian scientist who said that the solution of a happy longevity was hard work and a lot of it. But it goes counter to the whole trend of modern thought, which is that leisure is the great thing and the natural goal of mankind, that less work for more money is our legitimate goal, that the world owes us security and a pension.

We suspect the scientist is in the position of a man who might anchor his small boat in the middle of a swift river and command the stream to reverse. The lad just off the roll of the family allowance who surveys the long bleak years stretching ahead to the old age pension and wonders if he can last the course may not be greatly impressed by the assurance of an Austrian scientist that he would do well to return to the simple philosophy of his grandfathers.

Building Tariff Wall

R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader of the opposition in Canada's House of Commons, toured British Columbia speaking for tariff protection. The German airship Graf Zeppelin was ponderously beating westward across the Atlantic, against head winds.

It was early in August, 1929, just 25 years ago.

"While our fruits and vegetables are getting ripe, the United States is dumping its production into this country and destroying the market for our Canadian fruit and vegetable growers," Mr. Bennett, said in Salmon Arm.

"Is it fair to put Canadians up against the mass production of the United States with its large population?" he asked in Victoria. Canadian butter had to compete with butter from New Zealand, where no barns were needed for the cows. Canadian cloth had to compete with fabric from low-wage countries.

He wasn't after high tariffs, "but tariffs that would allow a Canadian to compete on fair terms." He advanced the standard arguments of protectionism, and denounced Prime Minister Mackenzie King's "Micawber" policy.

Uncle Sam was busy building the mountainous Smoot-Hawley tariff wall, and the prime minister declined to raise Canadian tariffs in return. He feared such action would provoke the United States to raise tariffs still further.

Mr. Bennett said the Americans couldn't possibly do worse than they had already done. He called the King policy "an insult to Canadians."

Attorney-General R. H. Pooley warned that dangerous drivers might have their licenses cancelled.

Anita Whitney, fiery white-haired advocate of Communism, was arrested in San Francisco for instigating a riot in front of the Chinese embassy. She carried a banner which read: "Down with Chiang Kai-Shek, the Lackey of the Imperialists." She said she valued membership in the Communist party "above personal liberty."

Fifty years ago, in late July and early August, 1904, the paper was full of false alarms about new defeats for the Russians in the Russo-Japanese war. One thing was certain, the Japanese were winning.

The fall of Port Arthur was expected any time. All foreigners had been ordered out. An assassin's bomb had taken the life of the Russian Minister of Interior, Von Plehve.

Negotiations were still under way for removal of the Songhees Indians from their reservation near downtown Victoria.

A public meeting at Ladysmith objected to the damage said to be done by the smoke from Tyee smelter.

Divers were working 30 fathoms down to raise the wreck of the steamship Islander.

Ninety-five years ago, Victoria was seething with anger about the American "seizure" of San Juan Island. Captain Pickett landed a company of American soldiers to erect barracks and fortifications, on orders of General Harney.

Some British subjects lived on the island, and it had presumed to be British territory. "We trust our government will call our insatiable neighbor to account for the unwarrantable assumption," The Colonist said.

—FROM THE COLONIST FILES

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

TO SEE what a gardener God is, you need a pocket magnifying glass at this time of year, and go around looking at the Composites.

The composites are everywhere around us now, and they are the largest family of plants in the world, numbering over 20,000 species. They are the yarrow, that white weed on every roadside, and the zinnia, the golden rod and the marigolds; all the wild summer asters and the coming chrysanthemum; the common daisy and the gorgeous dahlia. They are all cousins.

With a common little 25-cent pocket magnifier such as you can buy in the five and ten, you can have such an eye-opener on a walk across a vacant lot or a suburban pasture as will make you feel you have never seen a flower show before.

For each of the composites is not one flower, but scores or even hundreds of miniature flowers all in the one compact head. Look with the glass at yarrow, and you behold a masterpiece of flower arrangement in hundreds of perfect and tiny blossoms. The thistle, small wild sunflower of many kinds, all the roadside asters that are starting, in bloom, are examples of the highest specialization in flower structure in the whole of nature. Their beauty cannot be seen by the naked eye. To the naked eye, a daisy is one flower. But with the glass, you see it is made up of scores of flowers of two distinct patterns, the white "petals" being one set of flowers, the yellow "the eye" being a mass of beautiful five-lobed tubular flowers of the second sort which go to make up the composite daisy.

There is something jewel-like in these tiny, barely visible flowers of late summer and autumn that almost puts to shame the rude, bold flowers of spring. With the glass, you have under your eye, as it were, a whole bed of daffodils, a round fantasy of tulips, no larger than a quarter dollar.

Letters to the Editor

Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Sun., Aug. 1, 1954

Britain, U.S., Caution Pilot Against Hainan Rescue Flight

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—British and American officials have cautioned an American pilot against flying to Red-held Hainan Island to search for a possible survivor of the British airliner shot down by Chinese Communist planes.

Cutbush was "not encouraged to undertake such a mission," the department said, because of the risks involved.

The state department, meantime, was building a case for a new protest to the Chinese government over the loss of the three Americans, and the subsequent Communist air attacks on two American search planes. The two Red planes were shot down by their intended victims however.

The Canada lynx, a member of the cat family, is silver-grey in color with a black-tipped tail.

A state department spokesman said the pilot, Perry B. Cutbush of Pittsburgh, Kan., told authorities in Hong Kong he was willing to make the flight in an effort to find Leonard Lee Parish, a friend who was aboard the ill-fated airliner.

He cited a British pilot's report that a rescue boat was seen in the area after the disaster a week ago.

The state department, however, said there is "little likelihood" that Parish and his two sons survived when the plane crashed into the South China Sea, near Hainan.

It is wise to take care of your eyes.

ON, OVER AND UNDER DOUGLAS

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

When I sit down at the typewriter and put this column together, I try to mirror on paper the thoughts in my mind. Indeed the whole purpose of this little venture is the communication of the human mind is so far from the Christian walks by faith as well as by sight.

So many people think that faith—in the words of a school boy's howler—is believing that which you know to be untrue. That is not faith. That is self-delusion and Christianity makes that demand of no man.

The staple fact of the matter is that a Christian accepts Jesus Christ as the truth, the way, and the life, and lights the exploration of his philosophy by the insight of his religious faith.

Of all men living, Winston Churchill could scarcely be called a sentimental idiot. If anyone has been called to test ideals by the realities of the moment, it is Churchill, for on his shoulders has rested the colossal burden of decision affecting the destiny of nations.

Early in 1949, he came to Boston, Mass., and made a memorable speech. He said: "However much the conditions change, the supreme question is how we live and grow and bloom and die, and how far each human life conforms to standards which are not wholly related to space or time."

"I say," he declared, "that the flame of Christian ethics is still our highest guide." Man does not have to be the victim of circumstances. He can, if he so wills to be, under God, the master of his fate.

I should like to assure my readers, therefore, that there is no "pious dishonesty" as one correspondent has phrased it, that alienates established religion from the life of today within its sentence structure.

I do not deny that there are great imponderables about God, man, life and death about which

Unclaimed Refunds

It would appear that doctors are still having difficulty in finding hospital accommodation for all of their patients who need it. If this matter is a problem now in mid-summer what will it be like in mid-winter? If we should be unfortunate enough to have an epidemic at that time the position might become really serious.

It is difficult to understand why the government, who have been doing their best to solve most of our problems, have allowed this important matter to slip into the background. As has already been stated in the press, some doctors are of the opinion that the building of a convalescent hospital, without any frills, would solve the problem. Mr. Martin is having difficulty getting rid of unclaimed premium refunds amounting to $130,000. Considering the time which has now elapsed since these refunds were first available, it is very doubtful if the bulk of this sum will ever be claimed. Why not therefore allocate this money to the commencement of a convalescent hospital, which could be enlarged as and when required?

Higher Bus Fares

When I have library books or bundles to take home from the office I take a bus. I pay 10 cents to ride four blocks, and in three years I have only sat down when someone was kind enough to stand in my place. The effort of hanging on and then of trying to get off with both arms full is exceedingly difficult and painful.

Good Samaritans

In these days when carping criticism appears the vague it is refreshing to be able to show unalloyed appreciation.

Early in this week my wife slipped and fell while walking on Douglas Street, injuring her leg and severing a vein which resulted in considerable loss of blood. A member of the city police was fortunately at hand and having promptly applied a tourniquet, arranged for transportation to a hospital, his by courtesy of a bystander who had a van parked near by. These two insisted on carrying my wife into the emergency ward, and the constable having ascertained the number of my car sought me out, at a parking lot and in a most tactful manner informed me of the accident and impressed on me that my wife's injury was not left before I could ascertain his name or thank him for his efficiency and courtesy.

I have therefore taken this means of expressing my gratitude and appreciation of the efficiency of our local police force as exemplified by this incident, and of the ready assistance of the driver of the van.

Rodeos

Does it not seem out of keeping that the Kinsmen's Club who are so solicitous for the welfare of mankind are so lacking in true humanity that they are considering bringing a rodeo to Victoria. Do they faintly realize what rough usage and brutality to animals such display mean?

Even spectators at Calgary Stampede protested at the cruel handling of the calves in the roping contest. It was denounced as barbarous.

Neither are the other items on a rodeo program any more acceptable. The pain of the tightly drawn bucking straps and what goes on in the chutes before the horse is released drives the animal to frenzy and we hear of still other, if not more cruel practices of which the public are not aware.

As for the remainder of events they are in keeping: Entertainment of any sort based on either the terrorising or suffering of animals is degrading and should have no place in our city. Such things also bring an undesirable element here. If those who should take up the matter do not do so I hope there are in our midst enough fair-minded and kind-hearted people to make their voices heard in defense of the exploited and illused who have no redress. Rodeos appeal only to the lowest in any nature. Let us do all we can to discourage such a disgraceful project coming to Victoria—under any sponsor or patronage whatever.

Henry Humphrey Jones Dies In Hospital at Age of 95

Henry Humphrey Jones, 95, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. During the first two decades of this century, Mr. Jones built up an investment business in this city. He was bitten by the prospecting bug about the end of the First World War and prospected in the Anderson Lake and Bridge River district of the Interior for many years. His first job in Victoria was with Weller Bros. furniture store.

He had lived in the United States for a number of years and flew from Duluth, Minn., to Victoria late last year.

In December of last year his son, Aubrey H. C. Jones, gave a party in his father's honor at the Pacific Club to celebrate his father's 95th birthday.

Mr. Jones resided at 710 Fort Street with his daughter, Miss J. H. E. Jones, and son Aubrey. He also leaves another son, Dr. R. H. B. Jones, in San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. A. N. S. Beaton, at Matsqui; a niece, Mrs. H. D. Middleton of Victoria, and nieces in the United States.

Mr. Jones was born in New-tonville, Ont., the fourth generation of his family born in Canada.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. from Hayward's Funeral Home.

It was a gay party when H. Humphrey Jones celebrated his 95th birthday at the Pacific Club last December and Mr. Jones was one of the most lively members of the party. He died yesterday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Organized Tennis Instruction Urged for Playground Children

A "really well-organized plan" to teach tennis to children in Greater Victoria has been urged by Gordon Hartley, head of the city's summer-long program of supervised playgrounds.

He said last night the plan could "lead the way" in Canada, giving this country tennis stars who can cope with the perennial winners of the United States and Australia.

Mr. Hartley disclosed that only about 50 youngsters will take part in the annual playground tennis tournament, to be held at 2 p.m. Monday through Friday this week at Central Park.

MORE TOURNAMENTS

He said there should be 300 entrants, and there should also be many city tournaments all year long.

The first step has been taken—provision for more tennis courts at Reynolds and Beacon Hill Parks and Victoria High School—but junior development of tennis has been a "dead issue for a long time," Mr. Hartley said, "due to the lack of a really well-organized program."

He pointed out Vancouver makes a "fairly systematic effort" but there is no attention paid to tennis in local schools. Mr. Hartley declared soccer, baseball, lacrosse and swimming have youth programs in this area, but there's nothing for tennis.

"It's a shame," he said.

Boy's Battered Body Evidence of Murder

AUBURN, Me. (U.P.)—The battered, nude body of 12-year-old Daniel K. Wood, Jr., of Gray was found Saturday floating on the Little Androscoggin River here and a medical examiner said it was "definitely murder."

The boy had been missing from home since July 22.

Dr. Paul R. Chevalier performed an autopsy on the badly decomposed body with Dr. Charles F. Branch and determined that the boy died of a skull fracture inflicted with an "unknown instrument" and was thrown in the stream, his wrists bound with a shoe lace.

The Summer Scene

As one walks the streets of this fair city of Victoria these bright sunny summer days, he sees many pleasant things.

One of the most pleasing sights, in this writer's estimation, is that of the holidaying visitors who come in large numbers to admire and enjoy our city and its surroundings.

Their brightness and colorful appearance enhance the attractiveness of the scene and add to the beauty of spots already beautiful.

The vivacious picture of Inner Harbor, for instance, with its yachts, its shipping, and its throngs of people coming-off the boats, is indeed intriguing. I have marvelled also at the variety and number of motor car license plates to be seen about the town. Some of the cars have come long distances—from Florida, from New Brunswick, and from other far points.

And so I became interested in jotting down the names of the States and provinces displayed on the car plates.

Up to the latter part of July, I have myself seen 49 different names on license plates; and they have ranged right across Canada, from British Columbia to Nova Scotia, and from the Gulf States through to our neighboring state, Washington.

This, I consider, is a remarkable and proud record for any city.

Occasionally I have been asked a question by a tourist, and have stopped a moment to chat with him.

All this has proved to be an educational experience, giving occasion to become better acquainted, in a degree, with different parts of this continent.

How good it is to realize the close and peaceable relations and associations of the peoples of Canada and the United States!

WALTER J. CONOVER, 48 Menzies Street, Victoria.

Thanks for Flowers

May I, through your columns, and on behalf of the patients resident at Rest Haven Hospital, thank the Saanich and Victoria North citizens who contributed so generously to the current Colonist "Share the Flowers" plan.

Each and every donor would have been more than amply rewarded to have seen the perceptible pleasure reflected in the countenances of every patient recipient.

The delightful assortment of flowers, each with its distinctive fragrance pervading the air, and the multi-colored hues gladdening the heart, has conspired to render us grateful indeed, and debtors to all by whom this gesture was conferred.

A. GEORGE RODGERS, Administrator, Rest Haven Hospital.

Indian Hostel

What is very greatly needed in Victoria is an hotel for visiting Indians where they can be sure of accommodation, without reservations. Many of them suffer hardship through not being able to get into ordinary hotels, not so much from prejudice, as from bookings, and because there is a feeling among other guests that the Indians may constitute a health hazard. This seems the true reason for the refusals they sometimes meet.

Now that Indian health and hygiene is improving, which it would have sooner if we had done our duty towards them, this objection may be removed. But children and expectant mothers and old Indians do go through a lot of misery and distress trying to find somewhere to sleep when they enter our city. I have seen it, as well as heard of it.

We should co-operate with advanced Indians like the Martin family in this urgent need being met. People away from home must find shelter for the night.

Police Comb Mount For Death Weapon

MONTREAL (C.P.)—Police Saturday started looking atop Mount Royal here for what could be the instrument used to dismember a six-year-old boy.

Raymond—Trudeau's mutilated body was found Saturday morning on the sidewalk of a waterfront street.

Identification of the parts of the body, wrapped in bloodstained newspapers and packed in boxes, was made by Raymond's father.

Search for the murder weapon was focussed on Mount Royal when Mrs. Fred Harris reported seeing a blood-stained knife and a large bloodstain on the mountain Thursday. She said she thought nothing of it until she heard of the boy's death.

Meanwhile, the hunt continues for an unknown "sex maniac" thought responsible for the killing.

Injured were Private Walter Fridge, who police identified as the driver of a car that overturned and rolled over three times while Fridge and Private Hilliard L. Green, 21, were returning from a dance.

Canada's Food Rules call for one serving of citrus fruit, or tomatoes, or their juices; and one serving of potatoes, and two servings of vegetables, preferably leafy, green and yellow, and frequently raw, every day.

Spacious Living Area Eye-Catcher

NHA small house designs

The large combination living and dining room is an attractive feature of this three-bedroom, basementless bungalow designed by architect A. H. Tremblay of Quebec. A bright and cheerful atmosphere in the spacious living area is ensured by an open-hearth fireplace and a series of windows which overlook a rear terrace.

The kitchen is conveniently arranged and is handy to both the front and service entrances. Complete separation of the living and sleeping quarters is attained by an all-purpose room while ample closet and storage space, so important in a bungalow, is provided throughout. The floor area of the house is 1,130 square feet, while the cubic measurement is 13,500 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 48 feet, seven inches by 38 feet seven inches. Working drawings for the house, known as Design 249, are available at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Problems of Working Women Sole Concern of New Bureau

BY BILL MAYOR

The labor department's women's bureau at Ottawa, created to promote a wider understanding of employment problems peculiar to women, will be headed by Miss Marion V. Royce, M.A., in September.

The Civil Service Commission and the federal department of labor said that the bureau will be a focal point for the preparation, distribution and continuing interchange of information concerning women in employment.

It is expected that regular channels of communication will be developed between the bureau and women's groups, employer and labor organizations, as well as with various interested government agencies.

IN GIRLS' WORK

Between periods in the teaching profession, Miss Royce was the general secretary of the national girls' work board of the Religious Educational Council of Canada from 1928 to 1932, and later became the educational secretary for the YWCA in Montreal.

She has served with the World YWCA in Washington, D.C., and Geneva and has traveled extensively, studying and reporting upon economic and social problems of particular concern to women.

Miss Royce has participated in International Labor Organization activities and taken part in the United Nations Social Commission on the Status of Women, as well as working with union and employer agencies.

TWIN DECISIONS

Two identical decisions have been given by the Labor Relations Board regarding applications for directive orders by the board.

Forest Industrial Relations Ltd. requested the board to make an order directing Local 1-357, International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL), to sign a letter with respect to a memorandum of agreement, Local 1-423, IWA, sought action by the board to have Ganzfeld Brothers Lumber Co. Ltd. sign a collective agreement.

The LRB replied in each case that the "Labor Relations Act" only gives the board authority by its order to enjoin persons from doing prohibited acts.

The decisions could have reflections in the request of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFLETC) that the B.C. Electric Co. sign an agreement with the gasworkers' division of the IBEW, or allow a strike vote to be taken.

The company at the same time has applied for court action to quash the LRB's certification of the IBEW Vancouver local for the gasworkers employed by the company there and in Victoria.

BCE president A. E. Grauer said yesterday his organization does not believe it is in the public interest for one industrial union to have full power over another industrial union.

He referred to the large IBEW locally certified for the smaller gasworkers' division. The proposition will be tested in the full extent of the law, he said.

"As a subordinate matter, but still an important one, we have on the basis of experience no confidence in the present left-wing leadership of the present electrical workers' union," Mr. Grauer said.

Rolling Rocks Won't Touch BCE Cable

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

It was news to me, but B.C. Electric Co. engineers know all about it. That huge rocks roll about the sea bed of the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the entrances to the Straits of Georgia.

The four 19½ mile long cables are being built in England. Ship Canal and they will be stowed without transshipment right into the holds of the ship that will bring them to British Columbia.

The subject arose last week when I was having a chat with Tom Ingledew about the projected submarine high-voltage electrical cable which is shortly to be laid from the Mainland to Vancouver Island.

Mr. Ingledew is B.C. Electric vice-president in charge of engineering and electricity, and he told me the company learned about the rolling rocks when a survey was being made some time ago to probe the possibilities of a natural gas line being laid to the Island.

The knowledge that these tidal agitations existed gave B.C. Electric some worry about the laying of the new electrical cable.

Rolling rocks would have been fatal to the intricate, high-cost all-in-one-piece cables which are to be used.

However, according to Mr. Ingledew the new survey of the seabed shows that the BCE route chosen from the Mainland to Galiano is completely clear of the rolling rocks. Although they exist a few miles south, the rocks are absent where the BCE cables will lie.

IDEAL BOTTOM

Indeed, the soft mud which the survey encountered is just ideal for the purpose. The heavy cable, weighing 15 pounds a foot, will sink into the mud and stay securely anchored.

This is important because although the four cables will be laid from the same spots on each side of the Gulf, they will be laid in arcs which will keep them about 1,000 feet apart under the sea. The deep mud with ensue that they will not shift and become entangled with one another.

The four 19½ mile long cables are being built in England. Ship Canal and they will be stowed without transshipment right into the holds of the ship that will bring them to British Columbia.

Manufacture of the cables will start as soon as Callender Cables Company, holders of the contract, have made the plant adjustments required to make the 19½ miles of cable all in one piece.

BCE is extremely proud of the fact that this will be the longest high-voltage cable ever laid in one piece. Other longer submarine electrical cables are composed of shorter cable pieces spliced together aboard the cable-laying ship.

For instance, the cable being used this summer to span the St. Lawrence estuary is in pieces requiring about 60 splices for the 31½ mile submarine journey.

More Lumber Moves

Shipments from B.C. customs ports in the first five months of this year are up 19 per cent over the corresponding period of 1953, says the department of trade and industry.

The value of goods exported has amounted to $304,368,000. Most of the gain has been made in increased lumber shipments, which have risen more than 12 per cent.

British shipments are up 31 per cent; African up 18 per cent; Australian up 10 per cent; West Indies up 15 per cent; New Zealand up 100 per cent; Belgium up 50 per cent; Puerto Rico up 22 per cent and India up 5 per cent.

To the Atlantic Coast and the Gulf, the B.C. lumber shipments for the first five months were down 7 per cent, but this within five miles of the International Pipeline.

A net increase of 197,679 shares was recorded in the second quarter of 1954, says the quarterly report of Canadian Investment Fund. Shares outstanding are at an all-time high of 8,283,612.

Assets at June 30 were $56,469,206, reflecting a second-quarter gain of $4,613,309. The balance of retained earnings was $14,847,682.

During the quarter CIF increased its holdings in the common stocks of Banque Canadienne, Bank of Toronto, B.A. Oil, Building Products Ltd., CPR Consolidated Paper, Electric, Hudson Bay Mining, Imperial Oil, Imperial Tobacco, International Nickel, Ogilvie Flour, Page Hershey, Powell River, Price Bros., Royal Bank, Steel Co. of Canada, and Hiram Walker.

Holdings in Aluminum Ltd. and Canadian Industries Ltd. were reduced, and shares in McCall-Fraser, common and preferred, were introduced into the portfolio.

Production Starts

Consolidated Nicholson Mines Ltd., controlled by Transcontinental Resources of Vancouver, will start production forthwith, according to J. D. Mason, Transcontinental president.

Initial production of 50 tons a day will be stockpiled pending shipment to Eldorado Mill at the end of 1954. A contract with Eldorado Mining and Refining Co. has been negotiated for the purchase and treatment of the ore.

For security reasons, terms of the agreement are secret.

OIL PROGRAM PLANNED

A program to drill 10 wells in the Brandon, Man., area is announced by Great Sweet Grass Oil Ltd. Two locations have been selected and drilling should commence within 30 days. Great Sweet Grass owns two wells outright and participates in the others on a 72,000-acre spread. Wells will be

Drop in Wheat Acreage Below Early Estimates

By Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

The federal government crop report on acreage seeded to spring wheat this year shows a decrease of 4.9 per cent, says James Richardson & Sons' weekly grain letter.

This decrease in acreage is smaller than had been indicated by earlier private reports which had estimated that there would be a drop of up to 10 per cent in the area seeded to spring wheat because of the lateness of the season.

WIDE VARIATION

Based on the 10-year average this would indicate a spring wheat crop of 402,821,000 bushels. However, the 10-year averages do not mean a great deal in this country as the average yield per acre has varied from 13½ up to 26 bushels per acre and with modern farming methods the averages should be tending to increase.

The oat acreage is placed at 10,160,600 acres, an increase of 132,251,629 bushels based on the 10-year average, compared with a crop of 406,560,000 bushels in 1953.

The acreage seeded to barley is placed at 7,855,900 acres, a decrease of 13.4 per cent from last year when 9,111,100 acres were sown. The 10-year average yield for barley is 25.3 bushels per acre, and it would indicate that an average crop this year would produce 197,967,000 bushels, compared with 262,065,000 bushels last year.

SHARP DROP

The acreage sown in rye shows a sharp decline, reflecting the lower prices prevailing this year. There were 672,500 acres sown to fall rye and 178,000 acres sown to spring rye, a total of 850,500 acres. This is a decrease of around 45 per cent from the 1,500,000 acres seeded last year to all rye. This would indicate a crop of 10,971,000 bushels compared with 28,775,000 bushels produced in 1953.

The flax acreage is placed at 1,206,200 acres, an increase of 13.4 per cent which based on the 10-year average would produce a crop of 9,529,000 bushels, compared with last year's crop of 9,912,000 bushels.

Chinese Helping Hanoi Transfer

HANOI (Reuters)—Viet-Nam

refugees from the Red River Delta's southern zone said Saturday 200 Chinese Communists have arrived there to help the Vietnamese create a Hanoi administration.

The Communists are to take over Hanoi in October under the Indo-China truce agreement.

Travelers reported that bands of Vietnamese women have been holding up buses leaving Communist areas and taking the belongings of refugees who refused to return. This seems to be part of a delta-wide plan to prevent the evacuation of anti-Communists, they said.

East Germans Reject Offer

BERLIN (AP)—The East

German Communists Saturday rejected President Eisenhower's offer of food and other aid for flood victims in the Soviet zone.

The official party organ, Neues Deutschland, called the offer "disreputable" and a guise for American hiring of agents and spies.

It suggested the United States would better "provide some real help" for West Germans by reducing occupation costs.

Vancouver Cricketers Lead Canadian Team

LONDON (Reuters)—Canada's touring cricketers jumped off to a good start in their two-day match against Britain's Marylebone Cricket Club at Lord's today, racking up a score of 319 for nine on the first day, a record for the first day in a test match.

The day was staged by the youngest and finest members of the team, 22-year-old Robert Quintrell and 23-year-old Tom Brerley. The two Vancouver players put on 136 for the first wicket in a stand that lasted just over two hours.

Brerley, a former British pro, hit five fours while Quintrell hit four. Both were dismissed by 45-year-old Brian Stanger.

Tight bowling by the Canadians then held the MCC to 36 for one at the close of the play. The wicket fell to Brian Stanger.

Ron McCreedy Tops Riflemen With 98 Total

With the excellent score of 98 points, Ron McCreedy of the 75th Regiment won weekly 303 rifle matches at Heales Range yesterday. Young McCreedy made a perfect score at the 200 yard mound, and a 48 at 300.

Chuck Hobson, also of the 75th was second with a total of 95 points, made up of a 47 at 200 and a 48 at 300.

Eleen Leary of the Scot's was third, also with 95 points, but she made 48 at 200 and slipped to 47 at 300 losing out at the longer range.

Scores follow:
75th Regiment: Ron McCreedy 10-48-98; Chuck Hobson 10-47-95; Eleen Leary 10-47-95; Major A. E. Evans 10-45-90; Ian Payne 10-43-86; G. C. Fox 40-36-76; P. C. H. W. C. Burns 43-33-76; H. W. H. 47-30-77.

Victoria Tyees regained their battling eyes at Yakima last night to pound out a 13-7 victory over the Bears and square the four-game WFL series at 2-2.

The two teams play a doubleheader today and the Tyees return home to open a four-game series against Salem Senators at Royal Athletic Park starting tomorrow night.

PRIZES FOR FANS

Tomorrow has been designated as "Fan Prize Night" with a number of prizes, including a flash camera and at least 39 others, donated by the Booster Club going to fans in attendance.

Due to a mix-up in wire service, no details of the game were available at an early hour this morning except that the Tyees won the line score.

Rookie-southpaw Phil Page was the winner although going out after seven innings in favor of Mike Kargin, who gave up the last three Yakima runs in the ninth. It was Page's second successive win.

The Tyees climbed all over Ted Edmunds, who had compiled a 144 record in latest official league averages. They scored three runs in the third inning, one in the fourth, and drove Edmunds to cover in a four-run fifth.

MOVE UP

Victory moved the Tyees, at least temporarily, into fifth place ahead of Tri-City. The Braves lost the first game of a doubleheader to the leading Lewiston Broncos, 5-3. No score was available on the second game but a Tri-City win would drop the Tyees back to sixth place.

Tom Herrera, new Salem right-hander, struck out 13 Edmonton batters but the Eskimos made good use of three errors to score their second win in a row at the Oregon city, 5-2, with Ray McNulty in top form on the mound.

In the other game reported, Vancouver Capilanos slugged out a 20-13 win over Wenatchee Chiefs.

Foul Bay Forces Playoff

In Senior 'B' Lacrosse

Foul Bay forced a sudden-death playoff for the senior "B" lacrosse league championship at Nanaimo last night by edging the Jets, 12-10, in a thriller.

It was the final league game of the season and the victory moved Foul Bay, the defending champion, into a first-place deadlock with Nanaimo. The deciding game will be played Monday night at Memorial Arena at 8:30.

Dave Unwin turned in a brilliant display in goal for Foul Bay, stopping 26 shots to 13 by Alf Shuker in the Nanaimo nets.

It was nip and tuck throughout with the teams tied at 3-3 after one quarter and at 6-6 at half-time. Foul Bay held a one-goal lead at 9-8 going into the final quarter and managed to hold out against the desperate Jets.

Frank Gower paced the winners with three goals and two assists while Art Green added three goals. Terry Rodway added. "Then the U.S. athletes would get more training."

Brundage expressed these opinions at a press conference in his hotel room to four U.S. and six Russian reporters. He has spent the past two weeks touring the Soviet, inspecting sports facilities and training methods.

"It might be better for American athletes if we didn't have so many automobiles and television sets," Brundage added. "Then the U.S. athletes would get more training."

Agostini Makes Good on Boast In Victory Over Record Holder

VANCOUVER—A 19-year-old student from Trinidad made good a daring boast Saturday as athletes from all parts of the British Commonwealth rewrote the record book on the opening day of the fifth British Empire Games.

Michael Agostini, a student at Villanova College in the United States, followed through on his rash prediction of one week ago by whipping Hector Hogan, co-holder of the world's 100-yard record of 9.3.

The Australian flash, dubbed "Hurricane" Hee, had to settle for a third-place finish when Don McFarland of Hamilton put on a magnificent finish to take second place.

The time was 9.6 seconds, equalling the Games record, but it was tossed out because the following wind exceeded two metres a second, the maximum allowed.

CROWD SMALL

Records fell in the six-mile, high jump and the 440-yard hurdles as Australian and English athletes carried off top honors in the five events concluded Saturday before a disappointing sun-baked crowd of 11,192. Canadian open records in the half mile, high jump, six miles and the women's shot put.

Harry Nelson of New Westminster, who won his heat in 5.8 seconds and placed third in his semi-final heat, picked up two points for Canada in the unofficial point count by placing fifth in the final.

One of the great performances Saturday was staged by Peter Driver of England, who turned in a heart-shaking sprint 250 yards from the tape to beat Frank Sando, also of England, by five yards in the six-mile run.

The flying Driver, who showed few signs of real fatigue, clipped more than a minute from the Empire Games record of 30 minutes, 14.5 seconds with a clocking of 29:04.

It was a one-two-three finish for England as Jimmy Peters, the marathoner, took third place.

The three Englishmen ran within five yards of each other, the lead shifting now and again, during the last half of the race. Driver moved into the lead to hold it starting the final lap and gradually eased in front.

KYLE DROPS OUT

Doug Kyle of Vancouver, Canada's only hope, dropped out exhausted after completing 19 laps of the 24-lap race around Empire Stadium's brand new track.

Marjorie Jackson-Nelson, who has announced her retirement at the conclusion of the Games, lost an Empire Games record in the women's 100 yards when officials threw out her clocking because of the following wind.

The Australian housewife was in front from the start and ripped off a 10.7 clocking to better her own record of 10.8 set at New Zealand last year.

Winsome Cripps of Australia placed second in 10.8 while Gerry Remister of Vancouver took fifth place after placing second to Mrs. Jackson-Nelson in the heats.

NEW EVENT

Yvette Williams won the first of four events she has entered by hurling the shot 45 feet, nine inches to beat out blonde Jackie MacDonald, an eye-catching school teacher from Toronto by three feet, two inches.

It will go into the record books as a Canadian open record and also as an Empire Games record since this is a new event.

The men's high jump was a great show and the crowd stayed to the end to watch it. The ultimate winner was Emmanuel Ifeajuna of Nigeria, who went over the bar at six feet, eight inches after discarding his right shoe in the latter stages of the jumps.

Second was team-mate Nafio Osagie and third place went to Patrick Etolu of Uganda, who both bettered the Games record of six feet, six inches set by Peter Winter of Australia in 1950.

Only one Canadian, Murray Gazuik of Hamilton, qualified for the finals of the 440-yard hurdles, which will be held Tuesday. He placed second in the first round, won by Harry Kane of England.

The other heat was won by Dave Lean of Australia, who bettered a Games record when he completed the distance in 52.3 seconds.

Canadians did better in heats of the 880-yard run, the final scheduled for Tuesday, by qualifying in all three heats. Rich Ferguson of Toronto and Doug Clement of Vancouver were highest, each placing second in heats won by Brian Hewson of England and Jim Bailey of Australia. Bill Parnell of Vancouver was third in the heat won by England's Derek Johnson.

DESERVED WIN

Agostini's victory was a particularly interesting one in view of the fact that the 19-year-old business administration student at Villanova University had been confidently predicting an Agostini triumph despite Hogan's impressive record. He looked like the class of the field all the way as he breezed through his two heats and stood off McFarland's great challenge in the dash for the gold medal.

Battle for High Jump Title Proves First-Day Highlight

BY DOUG PEDEN

(Colonist Staff Reporter)

VANCOUVER—Seldom does a jumping event steal the spotlight from the more highly publicized running events in a top-flight track and field meet, yet that's what happened at Empire Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Prior to the time that three ducky leapers staged a final, dramatic battle amid the lengthening shadows of Canada's largest stadium for the high jump championship of the fifth British Empire Games it appeared that Mike Agostini's triumph and Don McFarland's second-place finish in the "glamour" event of the day—the men's 100-yard sprint—and England's sweep of the first three places in the stirring six-mile race would provide the memorable moments of a record-shattering afternoon.

LENGTHY STRUGGLE

However, the high jump, often started and finished in partial obscurity while the majority of attention is focused on flying track stars, suddenly became the centre of attraction when the last race was finished and the jumpers were still struggling for supremacy.

With the bar at six feet, six and one-quarter inches, it appeared that none of the four remaining contestants would clear the bar when Nigeria's Emmanuel Ifeajuna sailed over.

Uganda's tall, slender Patrick Etolu and Nigerian Nafio Bello Osagie, both with short straight approaches to the bar, stayed in the battle with mighty efforts on their final leaps. But Peter Wells of New Zealand was eliminated as he failed on his third attempt.

MAKES IT TWICE

At six feet, seven inches, it again appeared that each of the remaining contestants, now being cheered in their every move, had reached their limit. Then Ifeajuna, with his more orthodox, angled approach, cleared the bar with space to spare and was promptly hugged and hoisted by the jubilant Osagie, who had already failed on his three jumps. Etolu, after teetering hesitantly before starting, missed his final chance.

Then, with a new Empire Games record to his credit, the 19-year-old medical student, who had never before leaped above six feet, five and one-half inches, raised his new British Empire mark to six feet, eight inches. They raised the bar another inch but the weary Ifeajuna, after four hours of competition, never came close to that mark.

THRILLS IN SPRINT

As was expected there were plenty of thrills in the heats and final of the men's 100-yard sprint, one of the biggest coming in the first heat of the day when Canada's Harry Nelson flashed from behind to edge the great Hector Hogan, co-holder of the world's record of 9.3 seconds.

Nelson, in a slump lately, apparently has regained his best form now that Mel Patton, who shares the sprint mark with Hogan, is on hand to watch the New Westminster youngster he groomed last term at Long Beach Junior College.

Although difficult to judge from one afternoon's running, Hogan, fast starting power runner, appeared to be laboring in his races and didn't get under 9.7. He was no match for the Trinidad flyer in the final and was nudged out of

Lawn Bowling Champion Defeated by Australian

VANCOUVER (CP)—Glyn Bosisto of Australia, singles champion of his country for the last four years, came from behind and in a thrilling finish scored a victory in the third round of lawn bowling events of the British Empire Games.

His opponent, James Pirret of New Zealand, who won the games single title at Auckland in 1950, went into a commanding 15-4 lead. However the Australian staged a great comeback to win 21-20.

It was Bosisto's second win in three starts and the first loss for the New Zealand champion.

Two bowlers are tied with three wins and no losses. They are Jack Fairburn of Northern Rhodesia and Ralph Hodges of Southern Rhodesia. Fairburn beat Jose-da Luz of Hong Kong, 21-15 and Hodges defeated Stanley Lee of England, 21-18, after a close game.

Alfred Thomas of Wales scored his second triumph with a 21-11 victory over Arthur Saunders of South Africa. Robert Laing of Scotland won his initial victory when he dethroned John Linford of Lachine, Que., 23-12. It was Linford's third straight loss.

In the doubles William Rosbotham and Percy Watson of Northern Ireland scored a 24-21 decision over William Stead and Harry Barker of South Africa after being down seven shots on the 12th end. The Irishmen now have won three games.

Dave Long and Jack Bird of Australia, another unbeaten pair, were forced to show all their skill to triumph 21-19 over Life Ravenwood and Andrew Snaddon of New Zealand. George Buddee and John Carswell of Scotland won their first victory and at the same time handed Sam Gardiner and Dickie Williams of Vancouver their initial defeat. The score was 19-14.

Deacon Jack Hurley, Matthews' manager, supplied the ready answer: "No. As for retirement, definitely no. Matthews looked great until he hurt his back."

SEATTLE (AP)—For Harry (Kid) Matthews, bedfast and sick in heart and body after his beating Friday night by England's Don Cockell, the question Saturday was: "What now?"

Was this the end to a long and honorable ring career for the 32-year-old veteran?

Deacon Jack Hurley, Matthews' manager, supplied the ready answer: "No. As for retirement, definitely no. Matthews looked great until he hurt his back."

The "Leaky-Tiki" was made up of two rafts lashed together, each with an outboard motor. The Tacoma group joined the official opening of Seattle's Seafair celebration with a burst of serial bombs.

Incidentally, power boats accompanied the raft on the 30-mile jaunt, just to make sure.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Well, I guess I should try and write something—or did you ever have to work alongside a managing editor who has just caught himself a 21-pound salmon? . . . that was an unlikely combination—Fred Barnes fishing and Andy Anderson guiding—but it clicked (see picture, page 10) . . . judging from first-day results, expected record-breaking at the British Empire Games is certainly under way . . . Doug Peden, who covered the first two days of the Games for this newspaper, was probably the only working newspaper man there who has represented Canada in the Olympic Games. Doug, of course, was a member of Canada's basketball team in 1936 . . . and here's another protest at the sort of reasoning which ignored Pat Fletcher, new Canadian Open golf champion, when it came time to pick the pair to represent Canada in the Canada Cup matches. Fletcher deserved one berth because of his Open win and the other should have gone either to Stan Leonard or Rudy Horvath. Jules Huot, however, was chosen for the sole reason that he is the pro at Montreal's Sur-la-Lac Club, which is hosting the matches.

Hockey fans should be most happy at the news that Marcel Pelletier is to be the new goalkeeper for the Cougars. Big and colorful, the volatile French-Canadian should not only prove a real favorite but the Cougars can expect the best goaling they have had in the WHL . . . the $205,000 Tam O'Shanter, world's richest golf tournament, is certainly lining up an international field. Among the pros who will be trying to win some of the money will be John Panton, Scottish champion in 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1954; Francis Buckler, New Zealand's best; Hector Vigna, champion of Paraguay from 1949 through 1953; Yoshio Hayashi, winner of the Japanese championship in 1950 and 1953; Kuri Nystrom, of Finland; Leopoldo Ruiz, 1953 Argentine champion; Flory Van Donck of Belgium; Alfonso Angelini of Italy; and Argentine's Roberto De Vicenzo . . . the last issue of Look contains another story on the well-worn subject of "Will the Cleveland Indians fold again?" The records show that the Indians are unfairly being accused of folding when the fact is that the Yankees have been winning the pennants themselves. Last year, the Yanks won the first seven games between the two clubs and the Indians came back to win 11 of the last 15 for an 11-11 split in the season. In 1952, the Yanks won the season's series, 12-10, with a last-game victory and this year, it's 7-7 in the first 14 games. That's folding? . . .

Joe Joshua, who surprisingly got a real chance to become Seattle's regular shortstop after leaving the Tyees by request, had 10 hits in his first 36 times at bat for the Rainiers for a .179 average . . . Jehosie Heard and Granny Gladstone, two other colored ex-Tyees are also having their troubles this season. Heard hasn't yet found last season's form for Portland and Gladstone is scrapping to keep his batting average above .200 . . . Baseball can get ridiculous faster than any sport I know and the latest is the naming of six umpires for the Hollywood-San Diego series. Two competent officials are enough for a baseball game but it won't be long before there are more officials on the field than players . . . Jimmy Dykes of the Baltimore Orioles, Eddie Joost of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals are the three major league managers really on spots. The last two seem almost certain to finish the season if they wish but Dykes may go sooner unless the Orioles start to win a few more games. Even Baltimore won't support a loser, as has already been discovered . . . Largest price ever paid at Longacres was returned by a horse, which, finished second, Snow Poms paying off to the tune of $187.20 for $2 to place on August 28, 1952. Largest win price at the Seattle track was $186.20.

It looks more and more as if the WHL will have trouble getting a quorum next season as if it manages to finish this one intact. It's hardly likely that Edmonton will continue as the only Alberta team and it's quite probable that some effort will be made to form a Prairie league. And if interest doesn't pick up elsewhere, at least two of the other seven clubs may have trouble completing this season. . . . Word from Campbell River is that trout fishing is excellent in lakes in that area and that the big Tyees are beginning to show in the famed Tyee Pool. Cowichan Bay in the early morning could be an interesting trip for anyone seeking a big salmon with the run certainly due to show at its best soon . . . Lacrosse fans are continuing to worry about the Shamrocks, fearing that the club may be upset in the playdowns because it so often falls to play up to its strength. While it's true that the Rocks have too often not been at their best, they still have more good players than any other club and playoff time will likely find them serious about it all . . . Although the Sons remain in fourth place, Coach Red McMillan still worries most about the Nanaimo team . . . Gordie Hunter of the Calgary Herald reports that Porky Dumart, one-time member of hockey's famed "Kraut Line" is a New Westminster coaching possibility . . . and Deacon Jack Hurley, who has parlayed a third-rate heavyweight into a fortune, says Harry Matthews will keep on fighting because he looked good Friday "until he hurt his back." Referee Tim Braddock scored one round even, six for Don Cockell when he stopped the fight.

CKDA—Now Vancouver Island's Most Progressive Station!

Station CKDA's Expansion Milestone in Owner's Career

Expansion of radio station CKDA, the result of a plan on Dave Armstrong was CKDA's broadcast facilities. Armstrong, who has been in the radio business for 25 years, has not only expanded the station's facilities but also its power. The station, which has been on the air since 1928, is now broadcasting on a new frequency of 1450 kilocycles per second. This is a significant milestone in the history of the station, which has been a part of the community for over 40 years.

Armstrong, who is now 65 years old, has been in the radio business since 1928. He started as a radio operator and worked his way up to become the owner of CKDA. The station has been a part of the community for over 40 years and has been a source of entertainment and information for the people of Victoria. The expansion of the station is a testament to Armstrong's dedication and hard work. The new facilities will allow the station to broadcast on a new frequency, which will improve the quality of the signal and allow for more programming. The station is now broadcasting on a new frequency of 1450 kilocycles per second, which is a significant milestone in the history of the station.

Premier Bennett Officiates

Premier W. A. C. Bennett officiates at the ceremony that saw CKDA move up in power to 5000 watts at 1450 on the dial. Also present were the Hon. Robert Sommers, minister of lands, the Hon. Wesley Black, provincial secretary, and David M. Armstrong, owner-manager of radio station CKDA.

B.C. Salmon Pack Half 1953 Total

The B.C. salmon pack for the first half of 1953 has reached a total of 170,000 cases. This is a significant increase from the same period last year, when the pack was only 150,000 cases. The increase is due to a combination of factors, including a larger catch and more efficient packing methods. The salmon industry is a major part of the B.C. economy and this increase is a good sign for the future.

Bracewell Thinks Amalgamation Best for Bayview

LADYSMITH, B.C., Aug. 1.—(C.P.)—A committee of the Bayview Ratepayers' Association, headed by Mr. J. C. Bracewell, has recommended that the city of Ladysmith be amalgamated with the City of Victoria.

The committee, which was formed last year, has been asked to approve extension of the city boundaries to include the new area.

Mr. Bracewell made it clear he was not advocating incorporation but that he was voting an opinion based on past experience.

He said the City of Ladysmith had been "far too generous with the outside areas in the past." The city's boundary line was an "imaginary" one, he said.

SEEK SOLUTION
John Under, president of the ratepayers' association, said the committee had been set up to find some organized means of paying for street lighting services, scheduled to be cut off in October.

"Some of us feel we can do better being part of Ladysmith," he said, "but we need enlightenment on how to start."

I. E. Brown, supervisor of municipalities, accompanied Mr. Bracewell and outlined the mechanics of incorporation to the meeting.

First he said a petition must be signed by at least 51 per cent of the ratepayers in the area desiring to amalgamate.

The petition would be submitted to city council, which would then pass a resolution of incorporation. When the vote of council was in favor, the amalgamation would be complete.

Korean Armistice Dead, Rhee Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Less than 18 hours after concluding talks with President Eisenhower, Syngman Rhee Saturday declared the Korean armistice dead. He called on the United States to concur in the ousting of the two Communist members of the neutral nations supervisory commission.

There was no indication the United States would consider scrapping the year-old truce, an action which could be considered preparatory to resuming hostilities.

The 79-year-old Korean president commended his officials at Seoul for ordering the Polish and Czech Communist members of the neutral nations supervisory commission to leave South Korea "quickly."

Small Tug Runs Aground

VANCOUVER (C.P.)—A small tugboat, the "Stanton," ran aground Saturday on a sandbar four miles off Sea Island and sank.

Her crew of two men was picked up from a dinghy by a B.C. Air Lines plane.

Capt. Leo Doucette, pilot of a B.C. Air Lines Cessna 180 was coming in for a landing when he spotted the sunken tug and two men in a dinghy. He "sat down" near the scene of the sinking.

Two B.C. Air Lines Beaver aircraft were dispatched and one of them, piloted by Capt. Bill Waddington, took the skipper of the Stanton, Capt. Jack Holliday, and his crewman aboard. Name of the second man was not learned.

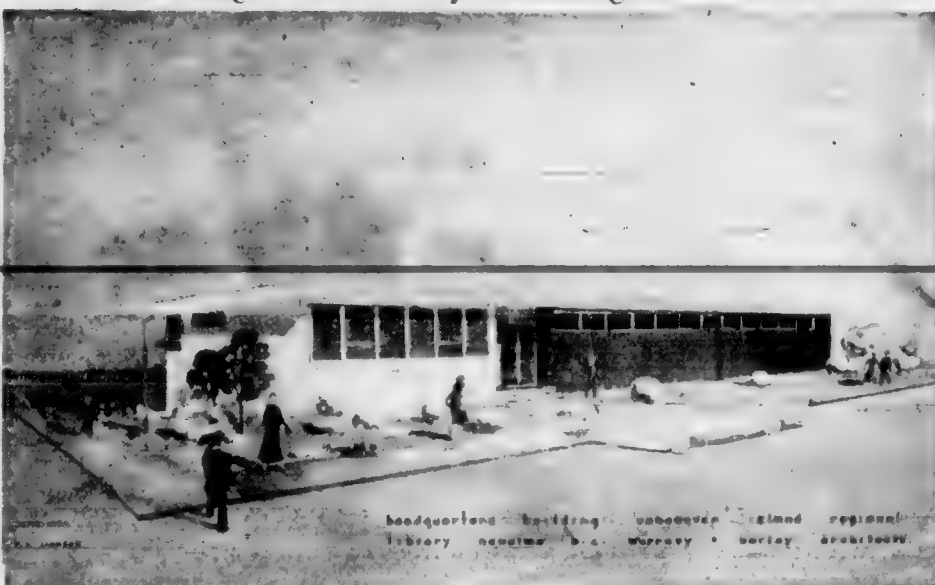

For hot summer days there's nothing that goes better than a crisp, cool, refreshing salad and easy to prepare. Save yourself time and trouble—serve salads often all summer long.

New Regional Library Building for Nanaimo

Contract for this new central administrative building has been awarded to A & B Construction Co. of Nanaimo. The building will be erected at the corner of Strickland and Needham Streets in Nanaimo and will cost approximately $35,000. It will replace overcrowded basement quarters now occupied by the central staff of the regional library whose branch libraries and rural bookmobile stations extend from Mill Bay to Campbell River. The 4,000-square-foot stucco building was designed by McArravy & Barley, architects.

Kemano, Kitimat Set for Duke

By Colonist Staff Reporter
VANCOUVER—His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, who will arrive in British Columbia tomorrow, is expected to visit the Kemano and Kitimat areas.

The duke will visit the Kemano power project in the morning of August 3, accompanied by members of the Royal party and Aluminum Company of Canada officials.

Early in the afternoon he will visit one of the company's Bell helicopter bases at Kitimat where he will be shown the aluminum plant and watch the metal in production.

Later in the afternoon he will visit the Sandspit waste reclamation plant and see the new dam at Sandspit. He will then return to Vancouver.

Two dozen West Coast newspapermen, including a columnist, will accompany the duke to the Kemano and Kitimat.

U.K. Police Board Polish Ship, Remove Man Seeking Asylum

LONDON (AP)—A Polish ship had circled the Polish ship all night and research work. The ship was taken to a shipyard for repairs.

Police squads lined the jetty as the launch approached. The thin-faced Klimowicz, wearing a blue muffer, marched with the other man to a police station under close guard.

The Royal Navy alerted a destroyer to stand by the Polish ship during the night.

The home office said the 3,219-ton freighter Jaroslav Dabrowski was free to sail away with Cort at once if his master surrendered Klimowicz.

REFUSED ASYLUM
Britain refused asylum for Cort, the 26-year-old self-styled ex-Communist physiologist from Boston, Mass.

Cort went aboard the ship Friday night a few hours after the House of Commons was told he had been granted asylum in Czechoslovakia. The United States wanted him back for questioning about his failure to answer a 1950 draft notice.

Cort said he would be subjected to "political persecution and victimization" if he returned.

"I hope to find work in a university in Prague on accession," he said.

The stowaway, Antoni Klimowicz, 21, and the unidentified man were brought ashore in one of 10 police launches that had circled the Polish ship all night.

Police officials said they believed the second man was a representative of the Polish ship's captain.

The haggard stowaway, who had been reported starving, was brought off the ship just before midnight.

LONG ARGUMENT
High-ranking British police officials had argued with the Polish ship captain for 35 minutes before he was taken off.

Among the police in the argument was Sir John North, Bowdler, top commissioner of Scotland Yard.

Parliament Can Be Called In Seven Days

(By Colonist Ottawa Correspondent)

OTTAWA—Parliament can be called in seven days if necessary in the event of a new railway strike.

I under a new arrangement a proclamation will be issued every week while there is a threat of a railway strike. The proclamation will set the date for summoning parliament to meet as early as a week away, thus clearing the way for an actual business session, if considered necessary, within seven days.

It is believed that parliament would not actually be summoned unless a railway strike got under way. The non-operating railway unions are now holding a strike vote, the result of which is expected to be announced August 14.

POPULATION GROWS
Since 1949, 750,000 persons have migrated to Australia, a yearly average of about 120,000.

Parents are asked to telephone 1764 for an appointment. The clinic will open September 1 at Lake Cowichan and proceed to Youbou, returning to Nanaimo in November.

Fractured Leg Result of Fall
PORT ALBERNI—Robert Meredith Jones of Port Alberni was taken to West Coast General Hospital with a fractured leg as a result of a fall off a motorcycle on the Sprout Lake Road seven miles west of the city. His condition is good.

Dental Clinic Opens Monday
NANAIMO—The preventive dental clinic for preschool children (2½ years of age and older) will open Monday at Princess Royal School, for three weeks.

Parents are asked to telephone 1764 for an appointment. The clinic will open September 1 at Lake Cowichan and proceed to Youbou, returning to Nanaimo in November.

1. The first step is to identify the variables involved in the problem. In this case, the variables are the number of hours worked (H) and the number of hours of leisure (L). The total number of hours available is 24, so we have the constraint $H + L = 24$.

As international tension increases there is a greater interest in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, its policy, problems and organization.

NATO is often thought of as a European set-up, with heavy emphasis on land forces, airfields and a network of overseas defenses. But this is only half the story. The Western Hemisphere furnishes headquarters sites for the first international ocean command in history, the Allied Command Atlantic, keystone of NATO's protective structure.

Although our overseas defenses have been steadily improving they are far from the strength necessary for our protection. Even at their peak they will have to be supplied with men and material in the event of aggression. Assuring this accomplishment is the vitally important role assigned to the Allied Command, Atlantic.

From his headquarters at Norfolk, Virginia, the Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic (SACLANT), Admiral Jerauld Wright, USN, directs the machinery which is to defend NATO's largest command area from any potential enemy. Subordinate headquarters on this side of the water are maintained at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and New York.

Admiral Wright's zone of responsibility extends from the North Pole to the People of Cancer and is bordered by the coastal waters of Europe, Africa, the British Isles and the Western Hemisphere. Within this expanse are such strategic points as Iceland and Greenland, the Azores and Bermuda.

Available resources, national economies and popular sentiment determine the extent and sophistication of NATO's program. For example, SAULANT has no force component of importance. Nor do legal structures, military units or, with greatly diminished force, the role of the NATO taxpayer. From the political standpoint, they have established the overall direction NATO members with Atlantic interests. For example, they have not shared the qualms that have accompanied France and prevented them from SAULANT's commitment abroad.

able to operate with the efficiency of a crack in the maintenance service. Ten NATS, for example, manages more than a dozen operating systems and countless differences in equipment and material make standardization a formidable but essential task. Should war break out tomorrow, SACANT has expressed grave doubts as to whether he now has sufficient personnel to do a job that is the responsibility of a single staff. Therefore, the war which is available must be used to the peak of readiness with speed and discipline.

What of the staff which labors over these problems? It includes some 150 officers and civilians individually chosen on a basis of background qualifications and previous experience by eight of the Atlantic maritime powers. The on-staff command is separated from the U.S. Navy.

Is there a catalog of impressive projects improving current technologies and perfecting new developments? Answers to these memorable questions are sought. Has a Norwegian tanker brought safe home conventional fuels to fuel a Canadian cruiser? How effectively could hydrogen, methane and Prothane be fed into steam in all the main engines of a U.S. Maritime? Can the last phases of Helios, Royal Air Force team with Boeing? Doctors in England remedy side-effects of a laser job? Are French carriers not safe specified to land on a Dutch platform?

COMBINED MANOEUVRES—The Canadian cruiser, Quebec, draws up to the United States battleship Wisconsin during one of the international exercises held by the Allied Command Atlantic for integrated training.

FLAG AREA AT SACLANT HEADQUARTERS—The flags of all 14 member nations of NATO fly over the headquarters of Admiral Wright on Norfolk Island.

THE day following our arrival we came into Portsmouth Harbor, and very soon afterwards the ship was inspected by the admiral and paid off. My examination in seamanship for the rank of Lieutenant, I passed creditably, before three captains just before leaving the coast and had obtained a first-class certificate but now there were two more examinations to be passed, which I dreaded much more. One in gunnery, aboard the Excellent and the other one in navigation at the Royal Naval College in the dockyard at Portsmouth. My examination in navigation at the College I got thro' without much difficulty, and obtained a second-class certificate.

I have been in the hospital since March 1967, when I was 47. I have been in the hospital since March 1967, when I was 47. I have been in the hospital since March 1967, when I was 47.

I have a question about the first part of the proof. The author says: "Let \mathcal{C} be a class of objects, and let \mathcal{D} be a class of objects. Suppose that \mathcal{C} is a subclass of \mathcal{D} . Then, if \mathcal{C} is a class of objects, then \mathcal{D} is a class of objects." This seems to be a tautology. Is there a typo? Should it be "Suppose that \mathcal{C} is a subclass of \mathcal{D} . Then, if \mathcal{C} is a class of objects, then \mathcal{D} is a class of objects."?

A black and white photograph of a coastal landscape. The foreground is dominated by a dark, textured expanse of water or a rocky shore. A dense, dark line of trees and vegetation stretches across the middle ground. Behind this line, a small, light-colored building is visible. The sky is bright and overcast. The photograph has a vintage, slightly grainy quality.

This aerial photograph captures a sprawling shipyard at the end of the war. The foreground and middle ground are filled with the hulls and superstructures of numerous ships in various stages of construction. Several large cranes are visible, some with their long jibs extending over the water. The shipyard is situated along a wide river or harbor, with a dense urban area visible in the background under a hazy sky.

IT was Sir Walter Scott who introduced the Highlands of Scotland to the modern world. When he was turning his genius loose upon the pattern of Highland pastoral life, Europe was breathing heavily in the smoke of the industrial age. Accordingly, the tales of a proud and feudal way of life were a welcome, bringing color to the work of town and factory, and the Highlands of Scotland became typed, in many minds—even in many Scottish minds—as a region with a picturesque past and something of a peepshow present. In 1954, they suffer from it still.

WORLD WANDERERS

There is even one where family names have a double meaning and even now a Russian could follow her car from the 19th to the 21st of October, but the road is not a straight line. It is a zigzag of the 112 and 120, and some of the problems which are not readily grasped by outsiders.

Rewrites Story of Jesus As in the New Testament

There is a growing body of research that suggests that the use of a computer-based system can improve the accuracy and efficiency of data collection and analysis. For example, a study by [1] found that a computer-based system reduced the time required to collect and analyze data by 50%. Another study by [2] found that a computer-based system improved the accuracy of data collection by 20%. These findings suggest that a computer-based system could be a valuable tool for researchers in the field of [3].

DEPT. OF THE ARMY

The two parties had to agree on a number of points. No more than 100,000 troops would be sent to the border. The army would be equipped with only 100,000 rifles and 100,000 machine guns. The army would be paid only 100,000 dollars a month. The army would be under the command of the United States. The army would be used only for the purpose of maintaining order in the border area. The army would not be used for any other purpose. The army would not be used for any other purpose.

This Year Marks 50th Anniversary Of Capt. Voss's Incredible Journey

PROBABLY the safest prediction in the world to make is that the city of Victoria will not likely celebrate September 2, 1954. No bands will play in honor of the day; nor Navy nor Merchant Marine stage gala display of bunting proudly waving; no procession led by mayor and government dignitaries will pass that unique "monument" seen by all Victorians during the years since Confederation Day, 1930, when it was installed with all due ceremony.

Kinsmen To Proceed With Rodeo Plans Despite Opposition

The Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen Club will proceed with plans to stage a stampede and rodeo next fall, despite the possibility of an attempt to stop the event.

Mr. Bergeron, club president, said yesterday the club had reviewed several sections of the Criminal Code dealing with animal welfare.

The lawyer advised the club there was nothing in the law to prevent the stampede and said the plan was not trespassing on the rights of any groups.

Mr. Bergeron declared "if this was a fly by night outfit with irresponsible people running it we would hesitate. But with the culture of the Kinsmen and the fact that we have no hesitation in proceeding," he added.

Mrs. Florence Barr, 865 Portage Road, said the club's decision to go ahead is "just fine" and they haven't got any of the data yet.

She said she has received a great many telephone calls from people supporting her stand.

Mrs. Barr, a former Victoria SPCA official who resigned from the group in 1949, said she will not approach the SPCA for support.

She said, "It's up to them to take the lead. They should have taken up the cudgels themselves if they considered it cruelty."

The rodeo is scheduled to be held at the Western Speedway, September 30 to October 2.

Strike Grounds Air Line

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States' largest air carrier was slowly grounded Saturday by a strike of its 1,200 pilots.

American Airlines was struck at 11:30 p.m. local standard time Friday over a refusal by the line to withdraw an offer requiring pilots on transcontinental flights to fly more than eight hours continuous flying time in one day.

The pilots' members of the Air Line Pilots Association (ALP), contend such flights violate safety requirements and a long-standing rule that pilot flying time be limited to eight hours a day.

American started coast-to-coast non-stop service several months ago. West coast flights were to take seven hours and 35 minutes and east coast flights eight hours and 35 minutes. The extra hour is lost west bound by heading into prevailing winds, it was explained.

The union said flight time on many New York-Los Angeles runs was more than nine hours.

The company said its ticket offices were referring passengers to other lines.

Trans-Canada Airlines added six sections to its Toronto route to accommodate passengers diverted from American flights in Mexico City. Reports of a strike of pilots were circulated when three American planes were grounded. One plane had on its hands 70 per cent reserve income had been agreed to new arrivals.

Coast Airline Preparing For Strike

SEATTLE (AP)—Officials of West Coast Airlines made plans Saturday night for limited operations as the deadline for a strike of its 150 station agents at 12:01 a.m. Monday drew nearer.

A company official said the company expects to meet any time but no sessions have been scheduled with the Air Line Agents Association (ALP).

The company, which serves Oregon, Washington and Idaho, has tentative plans to keep offices open in the larger cities by sending replacements from Seattle but the smaller stations will be closed. A spokesman said he expected to have a list of the stations to be kept open some time Sunday afternoon.

The union has demanded a 6 to 7 per cent increase in agents' wages, an eight-hour day over time over eight hours, elimination of area differentials and equal treatment of all West Coast employees.

While the exact amount of the company offer was not revealed, West Coast said its wage offer would bring agents' pay in the upper 25 per cent of scales in the industry, and economic conditions would not permit meeting union demands.

CIL Plant Manager Ends 36 Years on Powder Keg

A man who has spent 36 years of a powder keg for 36 years retired last week.

He was working in the explosives department of the Canadian Industries Ltd.

Powder keg is only a figure of speech. Building of the plant was started before the war and was a dangerous job.

In Mr. Thatcher's career he has seen only one explosion, a 500,000 lb. bomb which destroyed a power station house and killed three people in 1916.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD—Twice the great powder plant which produced ammunition in two wars went 900 accidents free, last without so much as a splintered ankle. Since it went 1,000 days.

The experienced but respected veteran engineer was honored with patches and presentations Friday.

His successor, R. B. Carpenter, presented him with an album of pictures of the plant at a gathering of all personnel in the afternoon.

One hundred friends gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher's home on Friday evening. A gift of a silver service was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher by A. R. McQueen, western representative of Canadian Industries Ltd.

Mr. McQueen paid tribute to Mr. Thatcher for his high standard of efficiency and hard work which he had maintained.

MOVE TO CITY—Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher have bought a new home at 3444 Oakwood Road, Victoria.

Born in Worcester, Mass., and educated at Yale University, Mr. Thatcher came to the explosives business in 1916 when he joined the A. R. McQueen Co. as a chemist.

He has been manager of the factory plant for 19 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher have three daughters, Barbara, who is married and living in Seattle, and two sons, one married and one living in Seattle.

The new manager, R. B. Carpenter, comes here from Seattle. He is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and has been in the explosives business for 25 years. His wife, Mrs. Margaret, is the former Margaret, daughter of the late James D. and Mrs. D. and Mrs. D.

Mr. Thatcher's retirement was announced by the company in a statement.

Sackbut Amuses Duke

OTTAWA (CP)—A National Research Council scientist said today, amidst the Duke of Edinburgh's visit, that a sackbut, an ancient wind instrument, was a curiosity.

In Hugh Lambton's play, "The Duke of Edinburgh," the Duke is shown playing the sackbut.

Referring to the sackbut, the Duke said, "It is a very old instrument, and it is very amusing to play."

New Proposals Put Forward To End Bakery Strike Lockout

VANCOUVER (CP)—New proposals have been made by bakery operators to the B.C. Bakery Workers' Union.

The proposals include a 10 per cent wage increase and a 10 per cent increase in overtime pay.

There was no official announcement following a meeting attended by the B.C. Bakery Workers' Union and the B.C. Bakery Operators' Association.

However, a spokesman for the operators, Walter Owen, said the union representatives were going to consider what was said at the meeting and then report back. He would not comment further.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-alarm fire caused extensive damage to the roof of St. Patrick's convent in Vancouver's Mount Pleasant district Saturday night.

Firemen said only the fact a fire hall is situated kitty corner from the Roman Catholic convent allowed damage to be confined to the roof.

Flaming U.S. Crash Kills 11 in One Car

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Eleven persons, trapped in the flames of their overturned 1941 automobile died on Pine Mountain Saturday in the worst single-car tragedy in National Safety Council records.

The only survivor, Hattie Maxie, 40, was in a serious condition from burns over most of her body. Her wife and three children were killed.

Also trapped when the car caught fire were Maxie's sister, Mrs. Lela Brown, 37, her husband, Tom, 41, the driver and owner of the car, their four children, and Martha Gibson, 17, who lived with the Browns.

State police quoted Maxie as saying the auto became overheated by the long pull up the steep grade and Brown attempted to stop shortly after passing the crest of the mountain.

Maxie said the brakes failed and Brown drove into a ditch to keep from careening down the steep slope. The auto struck a cliff, jamming the right door, then skidded around and over turned on its left side.

State Police Sgt. Chester Dotter said Maxie, still suffering from shock, told him she climbed out of a window. "I'm not sure but I think it was the back one."

Maxie said the gasoline tank burst into flames as he escaped but that he grabbed an axe lying nearby and tried to hack an opening for the others.

Despite flames which had burned away his clothing, Maxie was again attempting to free the others when help arrived.

A National Safety Council spokesman in Chicago said the 11-person toll was the worst single car toll on record in the United States.

Canada at Last Has Eskimo Dictionary

DICTIONARY. A Roman Catholic missionary has dipped into notes compiled by him over the last 50 years and produced what he describes as Canada's first Eskimo dictionary.

From now the Oblate Fathers' knowledge of the Eskimo language will be kept a secret and restricted to missionaries of the order. But Rev. Arthur Thibert, Oblate of the Eskimo language, will change all that.

NEED GROWS
The Oblate priest, who has spent 25 years on and off the Arctic, said in an interview that recent developments in the north made publication of the dictionary a necessity.

Eskimos and white men are coming into closer contact all the time, he said. Eskimos, suffering from tuberculosis, come to the white man's hospitals in the Canadian cities. A small number work in Arctic mining developments and defense bases or operate their own trading posts.

In the foreword to his dictionary, he said:
"I have kept on other a number of years to provide the missionaries and all those who work in the Arctic or care for the small welfare of the Eskimos with a suitable tool for their task."

TOURIST PATTERNS
The dictionary, which includes some basic rules of Eskimo grammar, will help minimize the language barrier. It is put together along the lines of Spanish-made easy texts used by tourists in Latin American countries.

Father Thibert, bald and heavily bearded, learned the Eskimo language the hard way, picking up words and phrases from his guides during his travels in the eastern Arctic and along the west coast of Hudson Bay. At the same time, he studied mimeographed lexicons and manuscripts prepared by missionaries who had worked in the Arctic before him.

SPEAKS IT FLUENTLY
Now the missionary, who on one occasion, says the odd king, was in his French conversation as the result of early schooling in New England, speaks the Eskimo language fluently.

He said Rev. E. J. Beck, a Protestant missionary, published an Eskimo dictionary in 1925, but it was not an all-time effort. It was a translation of a German Eskimo text published in the 1860s by Friedrich Erdmann, German explorer.

LOTS OF GEMMICKS
As dictionaries go, Father Thibert's 4,000-word book is thin, only a half-inch thick. But the Eskimo language is full of gemmicks. A series of declensions and some 200 inflexions can result in 160,000 variations of a single root word. Inflections are groups of letters inserted in the middle of a word to change its meaning slightly.

Father Thibert thinks the Eskimo language is more precise than either English or French. For example, an Arctic Eskimo on the father's side is "Nalutuk". An Eskimo on the mother's side is "Angak". The same distinction is made for all other degrees of family relationship.

Two Eskimos give a precise and concrete meaning to their words. For example, the word for "radio" is "Nalutuk". Literally, the instrument which bears from afar.

UNIVERSAL
The veteran of the north said there are some slight language variations among Eskimo tribes but it is possible to travel from one end of the Arctic to the other and be understood everywhere.

While the language in Greenland and the Canadian Arctic is a common form of foreign in Inuit, Alaska Eskimos use some words of Russian origin, he said.

There are an estimated 100,000 Eskimos in the Arctic, including about 9,500 in Canada.

EVERY WORD CHECKED

Father Thibert worked on the dictionary two years. He spent six months last year at Chester Inlet, where he checked every word with an old Eskimo named Inuktituk. The Eskimo, once a great hunter who was stricken by polio and left paralyzed, now earns a living with his berry carting.

A French Eskimo version of the dictionary will come off the press after this year.

Archeologist, Raft Set

Plan To Get 'Drift' Of Paleolithic Man

BARCELONA (NANA) — A distinguished Spanish archeologist is scheduling a 10,000-mile trip on a log raft across the straits of Gibraltar in an attempt to prove that prehistoric man entered Europe from Africa.

The Prof. of Geology at the University of Barcelona, Dr. Juan Cabré, is heading a team of six university students who are building the raft in the most primitive way possible. Carrying no sails, they will start from the Spanish free port of Ceuta, North Africa.

Dr. Cabré said the raft is the same as the one used by the first man to cross the straits. He believes the first man to cross the straits was a fisherman who had any sparring vessels.

BRIGHTEN THE LIVES OF SHUT-INS WITH CHEERY

flowers

from your garden

Phone 3-4111

The Daily Colonist "SHARE-THE-FLOWERS" DEPARTMENT

Beautiful flowers add so much pleasure to the lives of shut-ins whose interests are so limited. In Victoria, scores of shut-ins seldom receive floral gifts, and this is your chance to contribute to their happiness. Think how fortunate that you yourself are well and happy — that your family and friends are not in need of sickness, cheering. SHARE YOUR FLOWERS NOW! Send as many as you can spare from your garden and have The Daily Colonist "Share-the-Flowers" Department distribute them among appreciative shut-ins. It will give you a lift to know that you have brought happiness to someone.

TUESDAY COLLECTION

OAK BAY AND UPLANDS DISTRICT

Collection Will Be Made Tuesday Before Noon

Gardeners in this area are asked to phone the Colonist before 5 p.m. Monday and flowers will be picked up between 10 a.m. and noon Tuesday. Plan to give flowers from your garden or help collect them. Collections are made twice weekly — Tuesdays and Fridays. Kindly phone the Colonist for pickup... tie or wrap flowers to avoid damage and facilitate handling.

Volunteers Wanted To Assist in Flower Collection

If you are able to offer the services of your car to collect flowers from a short list and deliver them to the Victoria Press Building on Douglas Street, please phone The Daily Colonist 3-4111. It would be very much appreciated.

Flowers Are Distributed From the Victoria Press Building To the Following—

Veterans' Hospital, Royal Jubilee Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Post Haven Hospital at Sidney, St. Mary's Priory, the Victoria Nursing Home, the Aged Women's Home, Aged Men's Home and the Naval Hospital in Esquimalt.

Tuesday's collection will go to the Veterans' Hospital, Victoria Nursing Home and the Aged Men's Home.

BE READY TO SHARE YOUR FLOWERS WHEN YOUR AREA IS CANVASSED!

Patients at Royal Jubilee Hospital will be entertained from 2.30 to 3.30 p.m. Tuesday. The concert will be given on the main lawn.

In the evening the police band will play from Beacon Hill Park bandshell starting at 7 p.m. The band will board the midnight steamer for the Mainland and the remainder of its first B.C. tour.

Conductor is Sgt. C. C. Bryson, a former member of Kingston Boys' Band.

Radio Station CKDA has some interesting listening lined up for this evening to mark its increase in power to 3,000 watts last week.

Redcoats play here Monday and Tuesday.

The history of Victoria's youngest station since its inception in January, 1950, will be featured on the program. Radio stations all across Canada will be heard from, and several in the U.S. will also participate.

CKDA is now operating at 1280 on the radio dial. Also boosted to 3,000 watts last week was CJV.

Kolowna's 48th annual regatta from August 11 to 14 will have considerable interest for Victorians, and quite a number are planning to attend.

Participating in the four days of fun and frolic is the Victoria Girls' Drill Team.

Several swimmers and divers from the city will vie for athletic honors, and James Bay Athletic Association is sending along a rowing team.

Outdoor music will be heard three Sunday afternoons this month through the generosity of the city council and the local branch of the American Federation of Musicians.

The city first declined the services of the musicians, but decided it could afford to pay for one performance with two free shows thrown in.

The music will be heard August 8, 15, and 22 from Beacon Hill Park bandshell.

B.C. Electric band will be heard from the same spot Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Sketch Club will hold its first exhibition of paintings by members at 8 p.m. Monday in the Dominion Hotel.

Public will have the opportunity of viewing the works on Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7.30 to 9 in the evening.

On display will be about 60 oil and water colors of Island beauty spots.

Continuing to pack them in at the Royal Theatre is the clown-prince of comedy, Danny Kaye in his latest movie "Knock on Wood."

The lanky comedian is in a class by himself and the only unfortunate thing about him is that he doesn't make enough movies.

Mai Zetterling, a Swedish star for a long time popular in English films, is a charming leading lady.

Man To Face Court Monday
On Breaking, Entry Charge

Gerald Robinson, charged with attempted breaking and entry of Farmer Construction Co., 2925 Douglas Street, will appear in city police court Monday.

Robinson was arrested at 11:45 p.m. Friday by Const. Walter Caldwell on the south side of the company building after police were notified of a prowler by Burnside fire hall, opposite Farmers.

He asked for a remand when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall yesterday and was granted it without plea.

Police also discovered a broken window at Page's cleaning establishment, next door to the construction firm office.

Muriel G. Galt, 1005 St. Charles Street, was convicted yesterday of careless driving and her driver's license was endorsed, when she appeared in Colwood provincial police court. The charge arose from an accident March 3 near Hall's road, in which four persons in two cars were injured. One of the injured was Miss Lena Galt, a passenger in her sister's car.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas fined Muriel Galt $35 and $12.50 costs. She had pleaded not guilty through counsel George Gregory.

A $35 fine and $3 costs was imposed, and a remand given on a second charge, on Stanley Modeste, of Kokish, for failing to give half the highway to oncoming traffic. The charge arose from an accident causing about $800 damage July 24 on the Shawnigan Lake cut-off road.

Modeste was remanded to Saturday when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while his license was under suspension.

Jean Sparks, Victoria, was fined $25 and $5.50 costs for careless driving when she appeared in Colwood court yesterday.

Stanley Onkasey, Victoria, was fined $10 and $3.50 costs for traveling over a solid line, and Gordon J. Reichelt was fined $15 and $3.50 costs for exceeding a 30-mile-an-hour speed limit.

At Sooke police court yesterday, James D. Goudie, Sooke, was placed on a $500 good behavior bond for six months after pleading guilty to a charge of common assault of his wife.

Last week in the same court, W. A. Conder, J.P., imposed a $250 fine on J. W. Muir, Jordan River, for impaired driving and recommended a two-month suspension of his driver's license.

Scholarship

MARJORIE GILBERT

Winner of a $400 scholarship is Marjorie Gilbert, 18, of 1818 Wilmet Place, fourth highest student in B.C. in university entrance examinations. Scholarship goes to her by reversion from duplicate winner Gaei Stott. The two girls, with Jeremy Winter and Tim Williams, all of Oak Bay High School, were the top four students in the province.

Entry List of 1,000
Expected for Show

Gladioli from 1,000 entrants will fill Memorial Arena for a three-day festival starting Thursday.

The event combines the third annual Victoria Gladiolus Festival and the Pacific International Gladiolus Show.

Mrs. B. A. Setchell, secretary of the Victoria Gladiolus Society, said she has had inquiries from hundreds of growers in Eastern Canada and many parts of the United States.

The show opens at 2 p.m. Thursday with judging by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Roseville, Calif.; M. Coode, Wilderville, Ore.; J. Tuckell, White Rock, B.C.; H. Savage, Calgary; and J. Cox, North Vancouver.

Friday and Saturday the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The show, sponsored by Victoria Cosmopolitan Club, offers a grand ticket prize of a 12-day, all-expense-paid trip to Hawaii for two.

Florence Chadwick will present trophies to the flower prize winners.

At Sooke police court yesterday, James D. Goudie, Sooke, was placed on a $500 good behavior bond for six months after pleading guilty to a charge of common assault of his wife.

Last week in the same court, W. A. Conder, J.P., imposed a $250 fine on J. W. Muir, Jordan River, for impaired driving and recommended a two-month suspension of his driver's license.

Groom
Found Guilty

RICHMOND, Va. (CP) — Percy H. Herman, 49, was convicted Friday by a federal jury of stealing $250,000 in cash and jewels from his 68-year-old bride.

Mrs. Doyll P. Havens had married the dapper Californian March 3, after a two-month courtship, at Palm Beach, Fla. Herman ran out on her at a tourist cabin near Fredericksburg, Va., the day after the wedding — taking the money with him.

He was charged specifically with the interstate transportation of $243,500 worth of stolen property.

Mrs. Havens, who appeared as a witness for the prosecution, clasped softly when the verdict was announced.

Another witness, Mrs. Mary S. Borgeson, a 34-year-old redhead of Richmond, Calif., told a story similar to that of Mrs. Havens.

Flooded-Out Serpents
Terrorize Survivors

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — Deadly cobras and pythons driven from the jungle by the flooded Brahmaputra River are bringing death to survivors marooned on rooftops in Assam. Reports reaching here said hundreds of snakes carried downstream by the angry "River of Creation" had sought sanctuary on the roofs. Several people were said to have hurled themselves into the water to escape the snakes.

Driver Can't

From Right

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP)

An odd brain injury which deprived a motorist of his ability to distinguish between right and left, caused him to drive 18 miles on the wrong side of the highway Thursday, forcing 20 other cars into the ditch.

George Hardyman, 68, of Storm Lake, Iowa, was stopped by police when he parked in the downtown section here. He was taken to Sioux Valley Hospital, where doctors said a blood vessel in the brain was burst, causing Hardyman to lose his sense of right and left.

Empire Athletes Shatter Records

One of many records smashed at the first full day of British Empire Games activity in Vancouver yesterday was broken by Jon Hendricks, 19-year-old Australian swim champion from Sydney. He cracked his old mark of 59.6 seconds in the 110-yard freestyle swim by a big margin with a time of 56.9 seconds.

Slicing the tape in her 100-yard dash victory at the Empire Games in Vancouver yesterday is Marjorie Jackson-Nelson of Australia, who lost a record time because of following winds. Her time was 10.7 seconds, compared to her personal Games mark of 10.8 seconds. Vancouver's Gerry Benister was third.

Trinidad's 19-year-old track ace, Mike Agostini, scored one upset at the Empire Games in Vancouver yesterday when he edged Australia's Hector Hogan in the 100-yard dash final. The speedy youngster finished in 9.6 seconds, equalling the Games record, but will not share the honor due to following winds.

Existing Records Easy Marks In Track and Swimming Events

VANCOUVER—Existing records proved easy for the star-studded field at the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games as competition opened yesterday in track and field and swimming events.

Three records were smashed in track and field and the winning distance in the women's shot put, a new event, was in keeping with results in other events. In swimming, if what happened the first day is any criterion, the whole record book will be rewritten. Four records were smashed by plenty no less than 15 times.

Jon Hendricks, Australia's 19-year-old swimming star, started things off with a 36.9 time in the men's 110-yards freestyle event which wasn't even close to the previous record of 39.6. Teammates Cyrus Weld and Rex Aubrey and Toronto's George Park also bettered the old standards in the course of a great opening day.

Hendricks led the Australian team to a record-breaking performance in the men's 880-yards freestyle relay, the time of 47.6 bettering the old standard by 31.4 seconds. The Canadian and South African quartets also had no trouble in breaking the old mark.

Virginia Grant, pert 16-year-old Toronto miss, led the onslaught against the women's 110-yard freestyle record, broken no less than six times in the heats. Miss Grant's time of 1:06.4 was 2.6 seconds less than the old record.

Fourth swimming record to fall came in the 440-yards women's freestyle relay. The South African team beat the old record by 11 seconds with Canadian and English teams also besting the old mark.

No less than four runners bettered the existing record in the six-mile run. Peter Driver of England had the best time, by teammates Frank Sando and Jim Peters, second and fourth, respectively, and Australia's Ed Warren also made it. Colored athletes from South Africa—three of them—bettered the high jump record. Emmanuel Hejuna, Nigerian medical student, added two inches to the former standard with a winning leap of six feet, eight inches. Teammate Nafio Osagie, who finished third, and Uganda's Patrick Etolu, jumped six feet six and a quarter inches.

David Lean of Australia set the other track and field record when he won his heat in the 440-yard hurdles in 52.3 seconds, one-fifth of a second better than the previous record.

Trinidad's Mike Agostini, who won the 100-yards dash in 9.6 seconds, record-equalling time, will not be recognized as co-record holder as a following wind stronger than permitted made recognition impossible.

The same wind also deprived Australia's Marjorie Jackson Nelson of a new record in the women's 100 yards. She won in 10.7 seconds, but the old record of 10.8, equalled by two other entrants in heats, will stay in the books.

First-Day Attendance at B.E.G. Tops Estimates by 15 Per Cent

High-Jump Victory Captures Spotlight

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Staff Reporter

EMPIRE STADIUM, Vancouver—It was a perfect first day for the British Empire Games in several ways yesterday—the weather, the events and attendance figures, which were 15 per cent over official estimates.

Nearly 12,000 people paid admission to Empire Stadium to see the first track and field events and another 5,000 trooped into the new UBC swimming pool stands to watch the aquatic contests.

For the 12,000 at the track and field events there was plenty of excitement. They saw records broken, they saw courage and stamina, they saw friendly sportsmanship, they saw a meeting of nations on an oval cinder track.

SALES TO RECORD

Their hearts went out to a little 20-year-old Nigerian medical student whose name they couldn't pronounce. He is Emmanuel Hejuna who after 3 1/2 hours of jumping sailed over the cross-bar to set a new B.E.G. and Empire high jump record of 6 feet, 8 inches.

The high jump in some ways stole the spotlight away from the more spectacular 100-yard dash and distance events.

Second and third places went to another Nigerian, N. B. Osagie, and to a lanky colored lad from Uganda with the name of Patrick Etolu. He was "Patrick" to the crowd who cheered him on and groaned when he failed to beat the 6-foot 6 1/2-inch mark.

MOVING CEREMONY

There was a tremendous ovation when the three mounted the victory rostrum to receive first, second and third place medals for the high jump from Sir Arthur Porritt, chairman of the B.E.G. Federation.

The three winners in each case stood silently and statuelike on the pyramid victory rostrum while a fanfare sounded and the winner's national anthem was played. It could be theatrical if it wasn't genuine. There was a warm glow in 12,000 hearts each time a trio—the best in the Commonwealth and Empire—stood to acknowledge the cheers and to receive their symbols of athletic excellence.

The crowd saw history made when three game-hearted Englishmen speeded around the track 24 times to take first three spots in the gruelling six-mile events. Winner was Peter Driver whose time of 29 minutes, 9.4 seconds was a minute less than the previous B.E.G. record and only a minute more than the world record of 28 minutes, 8.4 seconds.

They watched breathlessly through four 100-yard heats, a semi-final and final to see Mike Agostini of Trinidad beat the huge field with a B.E.G. tied record of 9.6 seconds and Canada's Don McFarlane only a step behind.

UNFORGETTABLE
These were just some of the things which 12,000 people will never forget at this first day in the 1954 B.E.G. The excitement, the laughs, the heart-breaks and the intensity of sport at its highest peak.

There were hot dogs and hawkers for the carnival spirit, there were armchair athletes whose advice was free but unheeded. There were the blue-uniformed band, green-shirted officials and many-colored track suits for color. There were flags of many nations and skins of many shades to remind the crowd what the B.E.G. is really all about.

There's plenty more where this came from. B.E.G. officials hope to see 400,000 pass through the turnstiles before next Saturday to witness all events. But it's big business. The whole show will cost $2,500,000 including the $1,500,000 stadium, the $300,000 pool and the $75,000 bike track. But advance sales have hit $385,000 out of a hoped-for sales budget of $385,000. A total sell-out of all events would bring in $420,000.

Will they make it? A fellow who sold his reporter he would have paid double the price of his $5 ticket to see what he saw yesterday.

Everything Ready for Visitor

No details are being overlooked at Government House in preparation for the 22-hour-and-35-minute visit of the Duke of Edinburgh who arrives at "Carey Castle" at 7.10 this evening. Theresa MacLean, upstairs maid at Government House, puts finishing touches to the bed to be occupied by the royal house guest. (See further story on Page 14.)

Food for the duke will be simple. There will be no fish and no oysters, because the duke doesn't like them, and there will be no canned food of any description. Every morsel eaten by the Duke of Edinburgh must be absolutely fresh and prepared with the utmost care. Chew Chung Leung has presided over stoves at Government House for 30 years.

Arrival Set for 6.15 P.M.

First Chance To See Duke Is on Route from Airport

Victoria is primed to receive its most distinguished visitor of the year, the handsome Duke of Edinburgh. He arrives at 6.15 p.m. today for a 22-hour-and-35-minute stay in this area.

Married men and women are expected to line the routes the duke will travel to catch a glimpse of the dashing hero they made eyes at during his visit here in 1951.

The duke is scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport aboard an RCAF C-5. He will be greeted by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace who will present Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the mayor and reeves of surrounding municipalities and officers of the three armed services.

The duke will spend the night at Government House. At 10 a.m. Monday he will review the ship's company of HMCS Naden in a ceremony to which the public has been invited.

After the review he will cross Esquimalt Harbor to HMCS Duxbury where he will visit the flag officer, Pacific Coast, returning to Government House at 12.45 p.m.

Elaborate security precautions have been taken to ensure the safekeeping of the Duke of Edinburgh every minute of his Victoria visit. Plainclothes officers will mingle with the thousands expected to see him and every available RCMP and city police officer will be on duty.

Duke's Itinerary

SUNDAY

6.15 p.m.—Arrival at Patricia Bay Airport.
6.30 p.m.—Leave airport by way of Patricia Bay Highway, Douglas, Pandora, and Cook, to Rockland Avenue.
7.10 p.m.—Arrival at Government House.

MONDAY

10.00 a.m.—Arrival in front of Naden wardroom.
12.35 p.m.—Leave Dockyard for Government House, by way of Esquimalt Road.
3.30 p.m.—Leave Government House for airport, reversing route taken on way into city.
4.05 p.m.—Arrival at airport.
4.15 p.m.—Take-off time for air trip to Port Hardy to meet HMCS Ontario for trip to Kamano.

Canada May Be Visited By Princess Margaret

BY TOM GREEN

Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A member of the federal cabinet stated Saturday there have been discussions indicating Princess Margaret will visit Canada next year.

The discussions are indefinite as yet and not firm, he said. However, he felt it is certain Princess Margaret will pay her first visit to Canada in 1955.

Other sources said it is likely she will come with the Queen Mother. Canadian cabinet sources said Princess Margaret has been "very eager, for years, to visit Canada."

There was a rumor last week which could not be confirmed that Princess Margaret would accompany the Queen Mother when she visits the United States and Ottawa next November.

U.S. Plans To Muster Manpower

WASHINGTON (AP)—A

sweeping new military manpower plan aimed at military duty for "all qualified young men," followed by compulsory service in a new reserve set up, has been approved by the Eisenhower administration. It was disclosed Saturday.

The object is to prepare the nation for any possible war with Russia.

"The whole thing is geared to the day of active war with the Soviet Union," said assistant secretary of defense John A. Hannah in explaining the policy approved by the national security council this week for submission to congress early next year.

'Share the Flowers' in Third Week

Gardeners of Oak Bay Asked To Donate Again

Greater Victoria's far-famed gardens and their generous-hearted owners have been sending bouquets of happiness to shut-ins in local hospitals and nursing homes for the past two weeks through the Colonist's "Share-the-Flowers" plan. (See photo on Page 19).

Gardeners of Oak Bay, Fairfield, James Bay, Saanich, Victoria North, Victoria West, Esquimalt, View Royal and the Gorge have all contributed their surplus blooms with an open hand.

As the flower-sharing plan goes into its third week an appeal is being made once again to garden-lovers in Oak Bay to contribute more of their beautiful flowers.

COLLECTION TUESDAY

A collection will be made in Oak Bay Tuesday, with the blooms going to patients in the Victoria Nursing Home and the Veterans' Hospital.

Patients in these institutions were very grateful for the flowers they received from earlier collections and are looking forward with keen anticipation to the success of the new collection in Oak Bay on Tuesday.

Oak Bay gardeners with surplus flowers for shut-ins are asked to telephone the Colonist (3-4111) before 5 p.m. Monday. Flowers in quantities small or large are needed.

Volunteer drivers to pick up the flowers Tuesday morning are invited to offer their services by phoning the Colonist.

Radiation at Work All Over the World Atomic Blasts Changing Human Species —And for Worse, U.S. Scientist Says

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—

Atomic radiation from exploded A-bombs is at work changing the human species all over the earth, and probably for the worse, according to a distinguished American scientist.

He says there is no stopping this, that the change was going on slowly before the advent of the atomic age because of the effects of the earth's natural radiation, and that the bombs already set off have simply made it worse. He adds that any more bombs will increase the undesirable changes.

SCIENTISTS' VIEWS

These were given by Dr. A. H. Sturtevant, zoologist, before a meeting of the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"There is no possible escape from the conclusion that the bombs already exploded will ultimately result in the production of numerous defective individuals, if the human species survives for many generations," Dr. Sturtevant said.

Whether the ultimate result will be good or bad is beside the point, the scientist added. It may be, he said, that the bombs will outweigh the genetic damage that is bound to result.

WILL BE DIFFERENT

The hard fact is, he argued, that human beings of the future are going to be genetically different in some ways from human beings when it is applied to most or all of the inhabitants of the earth.

The scientist cited the work of many investigators to support his point. He said this research indicated that:

High energy radiation hitting the germ cells of living organisms causes genetic changes which are passed on to offspring.

The frequency of these changes is proportional to the amount of radiation present; that even the tiniest amount of background will cause some changes.

The great majority of these changes are bad, and in subsequent generations can produce a wide variety of defects, including early death.
